THE BEAR

Volume 35

Boyertown Area Senior High
Boyertown, Pa.

We entered full of hope

There were a lot of good times

But also hard work

And a lot
to learn

We wondered if our hope would turn to disillusionment when we left in the spring.

Yearbook dedicated to Gilbert

A dedication of this sort cannot be given; it can only be offered to a man who has given of himself to us and to this school. And in honoring such a man who has served us well as teacher, principal, and superintendent, we want to show our deep appreciation. Though this dedication cannot match his 36 years of devoted service, we, the class of 1974, are very proud to offer this book to Harry I. Gilbert.

Have we really gone this far through space and time,
or is this a vision
in my mind?

In memoriam

We live in deeds, not years; in thoughts,
not breaths;

In feelings, not in figures on a dial.

We should count time by heart-throbs.

He most lives

Who thinks most — feels the noblest — acts the best.

It matters not how long we live, but how.

Council reorganizes, gets down to work

For the past few years, Student Council has been put down by fellow students and faculty. Only those who have examined the obstacles lying before Student Council can appreciate our achievements this year. One major obstacle, the ninth-graders, hindered our progress in acquiring many privileges.

After bidding farewell to the ninth grade in January, we got down to serious business. We re-organized the structure of council by forming small committees dealing with individual problems. The long hoped for senior lounge and Activities Day became realities through the efforts of these committees.

Hopefully, because of this year's success, Student Council is back on the road to power and importance at BASH. Promoting Student Council this year were officers Patrick Monaghan, president; Doreen Boettner, vice-president; Donna Cias, secretary; Debbie Gaugler, treasurer; and Mr. Stanley Madeja, adviser.

Memories of '74

Our class trip, the prom, Class Day, and Graduation are all things which will be remembered by our class of '74 for many years to come. As a group, the Senior Executive Committee was responsible for these and many other activities that helped to make our last year in high school a memorable one. We raised money by holding a dance concert and other dances throughout the year. We also helped select our class song, flower, colors, and motto.

We liked working with our adviser, Mr. Robert Ballantyne, and we liked his philosophy of what a class adviser should be. He felt an adviser should be ready to help and offer suggestions when needed, and that most of the work should be left up to the officers and executive committee. He always let us work and plan on our own, but we knew he was there, ready to help us. This system worked fine, and because of it we felt that we had really accomplished something by ourselves for the class of 1974.

The junior year always turns out to be a busy one for Executive Committee. Because we lost our original adviser, our first meetings were delayed until Mr. Donald Hendricks volunteered his services.

Getting down to business, we took care of the class constitution, the traditional symbols of a class, the dinner dance, and the class play. The constitution simply expresses the purpose of the committee and the duties of the officers and representatives. Our plans for the dinner dance began in early February with many after school and Saturday afternoon meetings. During March, our class play was presented as another money-making venture for the Class of '75.

Officers were Keith Weaver, president; Lorraine Weidner, vice-president; Brenda Dunkelberger, secretary; and Tom Balmer, treasurer.

Traditional activities sparked by new adviser

Sophs established after delay

We, the Sophomore Class, established our first Executive Committee this year. Our delay was caused by the fact that we were unable to obtain an adviser. This year, however, Mr. Richard Johnson, helped us tackle our responsibilities. Gaining momentum, we pushed for magazine sales and surpassed the sales record achieved by the Class of '75. Tony Rhoads was our high salesman and received a ten speed bike.

Later in the year we voted for navy blue and sky blue as our class colors, and in March, our class jackets and sweaters were ordered. Officers were president, Jay Repko; vice-president, David Girton; secretary, Judy Berkey; and treasurer, Alicia Borowski.

At the beginning of the '73-'74 school year, Cub was without an adviser or staff. Because of scheduling difficulties students who had signed up for Cub were not scheduled for it. These were only minor problems, however. Mr. Charles Byler took on the role of adviser, and he and his editors — Jim Detterline, Laurie Moyer, and Randy Reigner — rounded up a staff and got to work.

The subscription drive managed to net five hundred sales. The first issue came out in early October, and was followed by nine other issues published every three or four weeks. These ten issues included an expanded graduation issue.

This year Cub featured more controversial editorials, letters to the editor, and picture collages. They also introduced an illustrated cover in their Christmas issue.

CUB gains new outlook

Magazine publication delayed

Great plans were in the making. We would gather the most fantastic literature and artwork to be found. In fact, we were going to get enough of it to fill three issues! This would all happen within the space of nine months. Mr. Misko, the adviser was ready. Co-editors Randy Reigner and Sally Smith were ready. The staff was ready. But the print shop was not ready. It seemed that Accent didn't have a friend in the entire 500's wing. Thus ended the dream.

Quickly hopping over to reality, we find an editor trying to print Accent by himself. This editor finds he must play the print shop game. It's called Monopoly. As it turns out, everyone can monopolize the print shop except our school literary magazine. This is how the fall issue of Accent became the winter issue.

With the sale of the winter issue, the staff prepared to assemble the spring issue. Or should that read — summer issue? Or perhaps fall issue?

Team enters competition

It started as usual with a blank, white notecard. As far as the eye could see there were magazines, books, newspapers, journals, and manuals — all hiding a wealth of information. It was just waiting to be put in ink on that fresh, clean notecard. One hundred notecards were too few to hold all the information needed. Even so, we began our first match clutching fifteen or twenty notecards in nervously shaking hands.

Some people call us debaters, but we know ourselves as masochists. Who else would research a topic for three months just to stand up and talk about it for 8 minutes? Who else would speed 30 miles away in the school van to argue with a complete stranger about food stamps?

Our team had a losing season this year, but as our coach, Mr. Edward Kulp, asks whenever we lose — "Did you learn anything?" Yes, we have learned a great deal. And surprisingly enough, we are grateful that we had the chance.

Pennsylvania High School Speech League events held an important place for our Thespian Society this year. At the PHSSL festival, Thespians received a third place rating in competition with thirty other schools. We also claimed third place at the Bishop Neumann tournament. Susan Levengood, Paula Commale, Joan Spohn, Jack Miller, Gwynne Geyer, Sandra Eckert, and Terri Brown were awarded certificates of excellence.

On the home stage, we had a variety of plays to offer. These included "The Diary of Adam and Eve," a humorous version of the Genesis story, "St. George and the Dragon," presented at Christmas to children of faculty members and the day care center, "Ludlow Fair," "The Effect of Gamma Rays on Man-in-the Moon Marigolds," "Deadwood Dick," "To Burn a Witch," and "Interview."

Mr. Ray Fulmer is Thespian adviser, Susan Levengood is managing director, and Paula Commale, Joan Spohn, and Lance Dorsey serve on the Board of Directors.

BEAR staff sweats it out

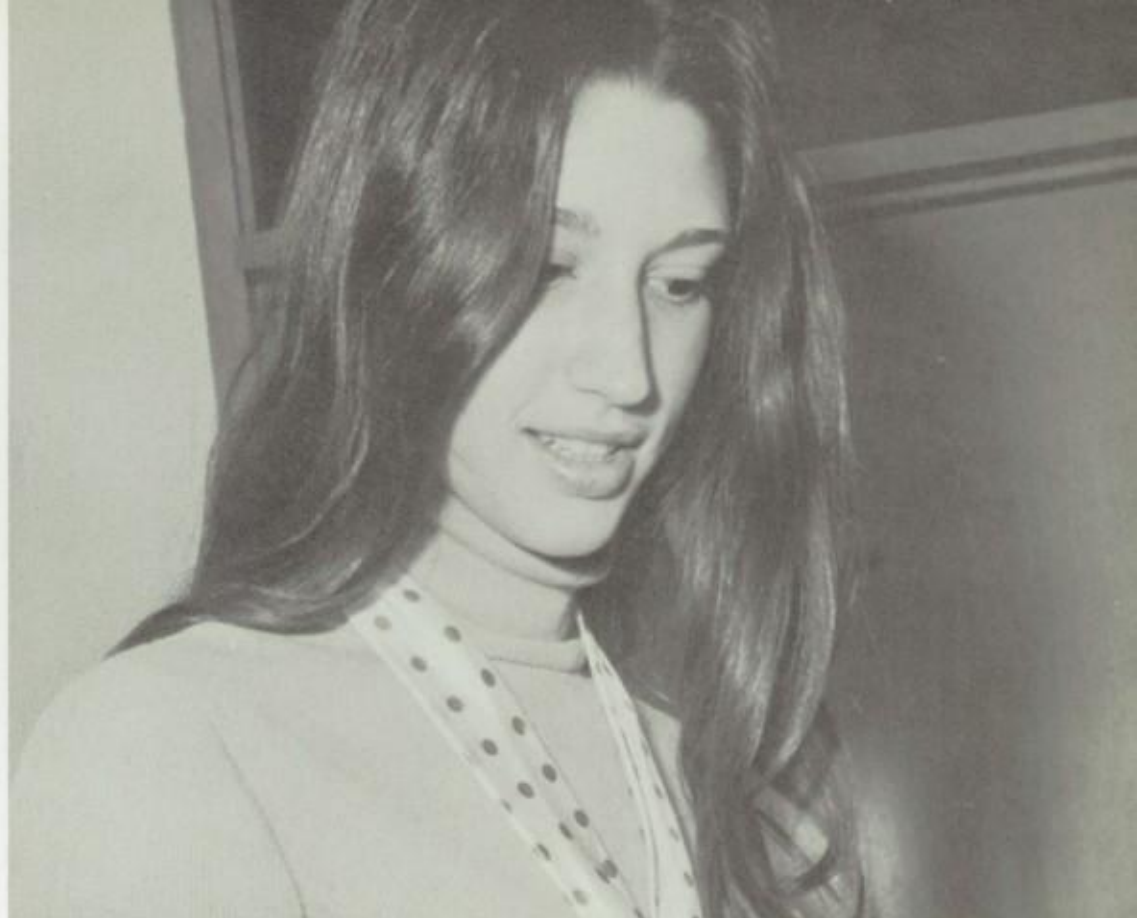

The desks were usually littered with layouts, write-ups, and half-empty coke bottles. We wrote and erased and picked double page spreads. But in between deadlines, all-day meetings, racking our brains for ideas, and looking for missing photos, we did find time for fun.

Our yearbook staff labored diligently, vigorously, and extremely hard for an entire year to present you with a book, a record of memories to be shared today.

This year our editor-in-chief was Martha Andersen, with Mindy Gerhart as photographer and Patsy Erb as our typist. Mrs. Margaret Huffert and Mrs. Jacqueline Runkle were our advisers.

This year, Future Business Leaders of America was quite active. We made floats and sold several kinds of candy to raise money. The officers traveled to the two junior highs to get the business students there acquainted with FBLA. On March 27, the club went to New York to visit the Stock Exchange and then to see the Easter show at Radio City.

We sponsored the Spring Regional on April 4. Area schools met and held contests in business courses. We also competed in the State Regionals in early May, and a few students attended the National Conference in California.

During our weekly meetings we often saw filmstrips or heard speakers lecture on business matters. We also kept a point system in which members earned points by being officers, getting good grades, winning contests and awards, and coming up with fund-raising programs. Those who collected the most number of points got prizes or went to special places such as the National Conference in California.

This year's hard working 42-member organization was led by president Carol Stauffer; vice president, Melissa Fagley; Judy Stauffer; treasurer, Diane Gaugler, and reporter, Alice Conrad. Aiding the officers were Mr. Thomas Blocher and Mrs. Janice Young.

Fuel crisis forces YEA to eliminate college visits

The '73-'74 year was a busy and enjoyable one for Boyertown's Youth Education Association. Members served as guides for Parents' Night and also held their annual Teachers' Tea for faculty and administration. Raising money for the end-of-the-year dinner was an important project, with the club members sponsoring numerous cupcake sales. A candle sale also added to their financial success.

Unfortunately the club could not visit area colleges this year to examine teacher education programs, because of the energy crisis, which eliminated most field trips. Leaders of this year's club are Donna Hausman, president; Brenda Dunkelberger, vice-president; Susan Falken, secretary; Susan Doaty, treasurer. Mr. Richard Johnson is the club's adviser.

FNA holds candle sale — adds $400 to treasury

Because of a printing problem in the fall, we didn't sell spirit ribbons for the football games. But that didn't destroy the FNA will to raise money. Instead, we sold candles and managed to increase our treasury by $400. We timed the sale perfectly — just before Christmas! The money was added to our scholarship fund. Two seniors entering a college or nursing hospital receive these awards each year.

During our eighth period Wednesday club meetings with Mrs. Lucille Strzelecki, our adviser, we watched movies, listened to student nurses, or worked on "Resessy Ann," a life-size doll "patient." We practiced on Ann when learning to wrap ankles, tape knees, and give mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. We also visited area hospitals and a home for the aged.

NHS not only grades

Membership in the National Honor Society involves more than intelligence. Sure, members have to have good grades, but that's only part of it. Other qualities needed for membership are leadership, service, and character. Ideally, a member should possess all four of these characteristics.

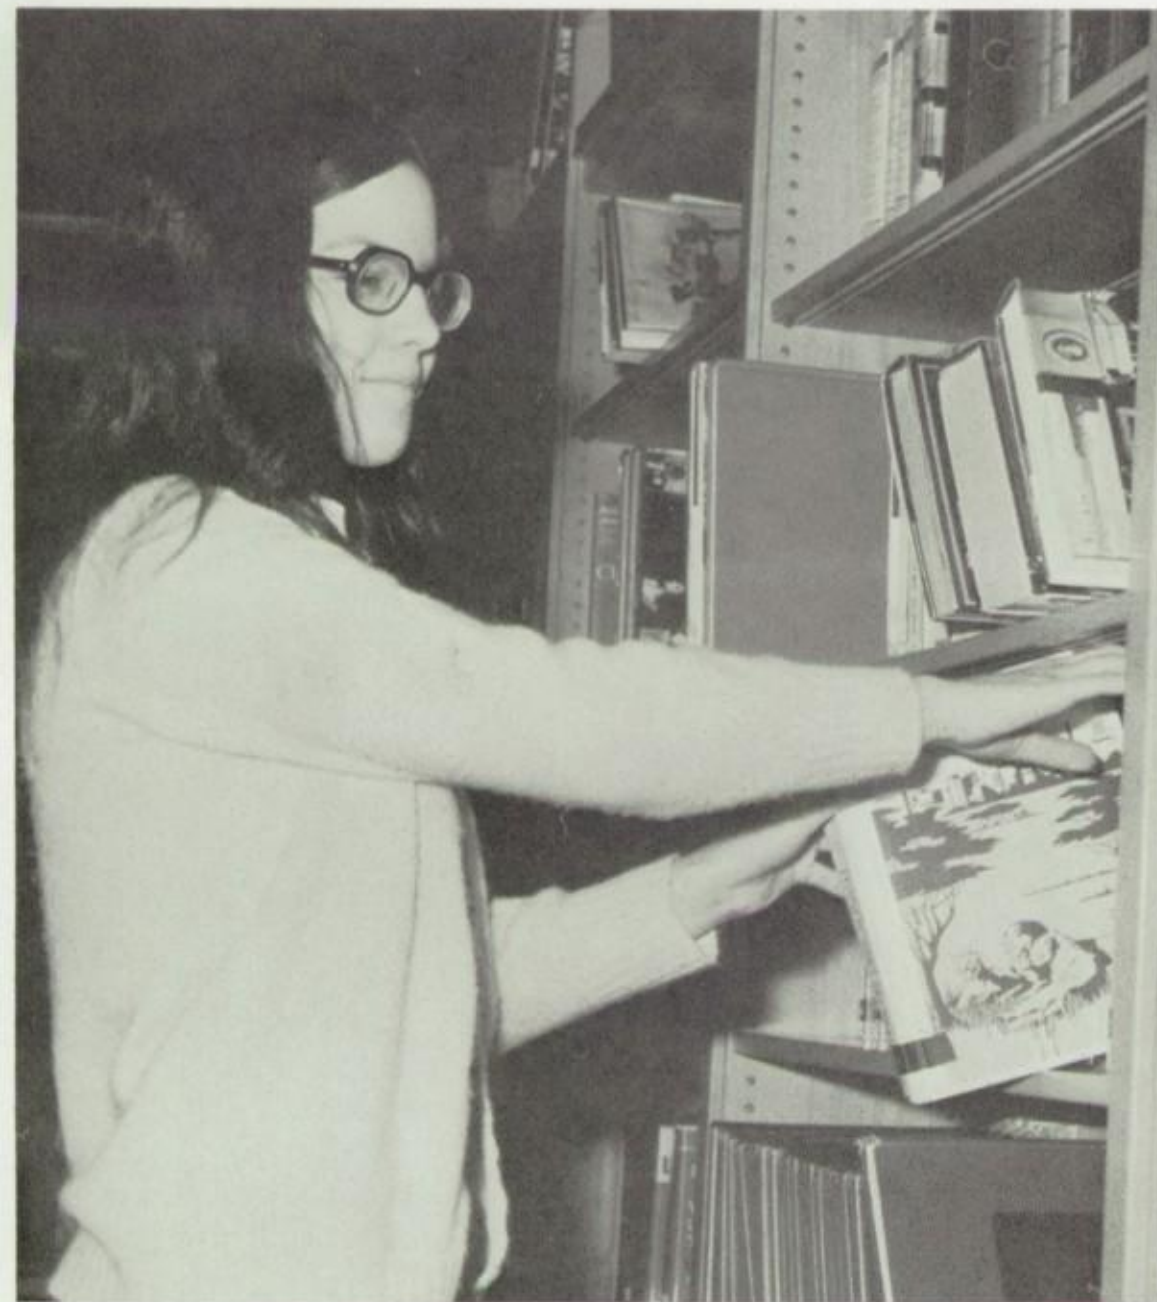

Again this year, the club sponsored its annual Christmas tea for college freshmen and sophomores, and high school academic juniors and seniors. The purpose of this tea is to give high school students an idea of what college is really like. In May, the members spent a day at Lehigh University and got a first-hand look at campus life.

With Miss Wilma Ries as our adviser, the club was led by Martha Andersen, president; Kevin Lessig, vice-president; Vicky Hartman, secretary; and Liz Plummer, treasurer.

Library members shelve and stamp

The Library Club consists of about thirty members. We meet every Wednesday eighth period, alternating libraries each week. During our meetings we shelve books and give book talks. All members must give up two study halls each week to work in the research library and the reading library.

This year the Library Club held a hoagie sale to raise money for a trip to New York. The officers were Sue Falken, president; Susan Gehringer, secretary; and treasurer, Suzanne Weller. The advisers were the two librarians, Mrs. Lea McLaughlin and Mrs. Gene Bielecki.

Scholar- ship money raised by car wash

A highlight of the year for the Audio Visual Aids Club was sponsoring a car wash in order to raise money for the scholarship fund. This is awarded to a graduating senior of the AVA Club who intends pursuing a further education.

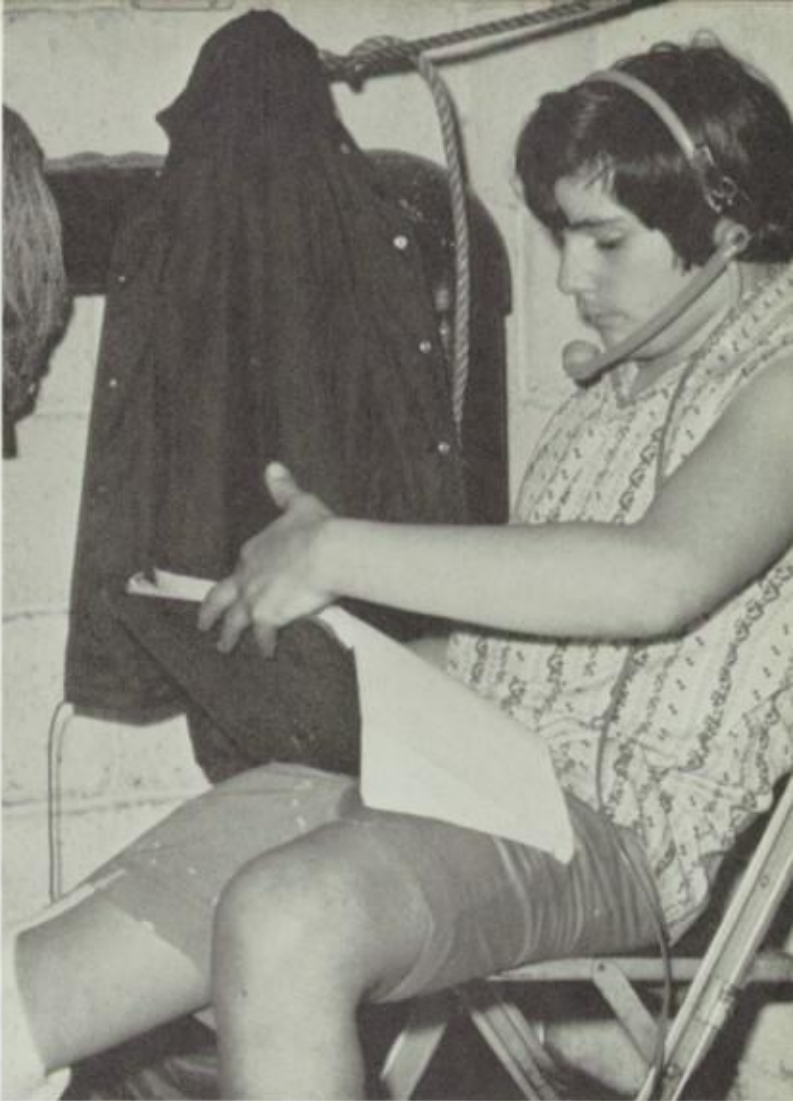

Under the direction of president Dwight Gross and adviser Mr. Robert Barbash, the AVA Club provides a variety of services to the high school. The club is responsible for media services to classrooms, operation of the school-wide public address system, and production of various educational materials. Filmstrip projectors and phonographs are provided and run by AVA. The club is also responsible for all closed circuit and educational television produced in the high school.

Any of the theatrical productions put on during the year require technical assistance. In conjunction with the art crew, the stage crew works on designing and building the scenery needed.

Many evenings and Saturdays were spent on our two school stages nailing, sawing, and painting. We have become experts in constructing flats, erecting additions to the stage, laying carpets, painting, hanging lights, setting up sound systems, and taking directions. And on show nights, we're on hand to operate lights and microphones and to shift scenery.

The stage crew became a permanent school organization last year. This year our group was under the direction of Mr. Charles Crummy, adviser, and Tim Simmons, chief.

GLC visits Pennhurst

This year GLC continued its involvement in school and community activities. In gym classes, we aided teachers and led the other students through routines. We also ran concession stands and sold programs at football games. During holidays we traveled to Pennhurst and other homes. To raise money for the GLC scholarship, given every year to an outstanding member of GLC, we sold candy, cakes, and candles.

There were other activities for pure enjoyment — the MORP, Faculty Night, Alumni Night, interscholastic playday, wrestling and basketball dances, and the Halloween party. This year's corps was run by: Holly Leven-good, president; Kathi Hums, vice-president; Pat Stauffer, secretary; and Debbie Dotterer, treasurer. Miss Susan Levy was our adviser.

If someone is peddling toothbrushes or pushing sweatshirt stickers, you can bet it's your friendly neighborhood jock, raising money for our Boys Leader Corps.

Although we got the bad end of the "space" race and often could not find a room in which to meet, we managed to make the necessary arrangements for athletic events and raise enough money for our annual $300 scholarship, the Maguire Award. The award is presented to a deserving senior athlete for his ability and leadership.

Among other activities, the now-famous Donkey Ball game highlighted our calendar. We also changed management and are now under the leadership of Mr. Michael Lunn and Mr. Norman Hafsrud.

This year BLC was presided over by Dale Yanocha, with Rick Moatz as vice-president and Ted Bingaman acting as secretary-treasurer.

BLC cramped for space

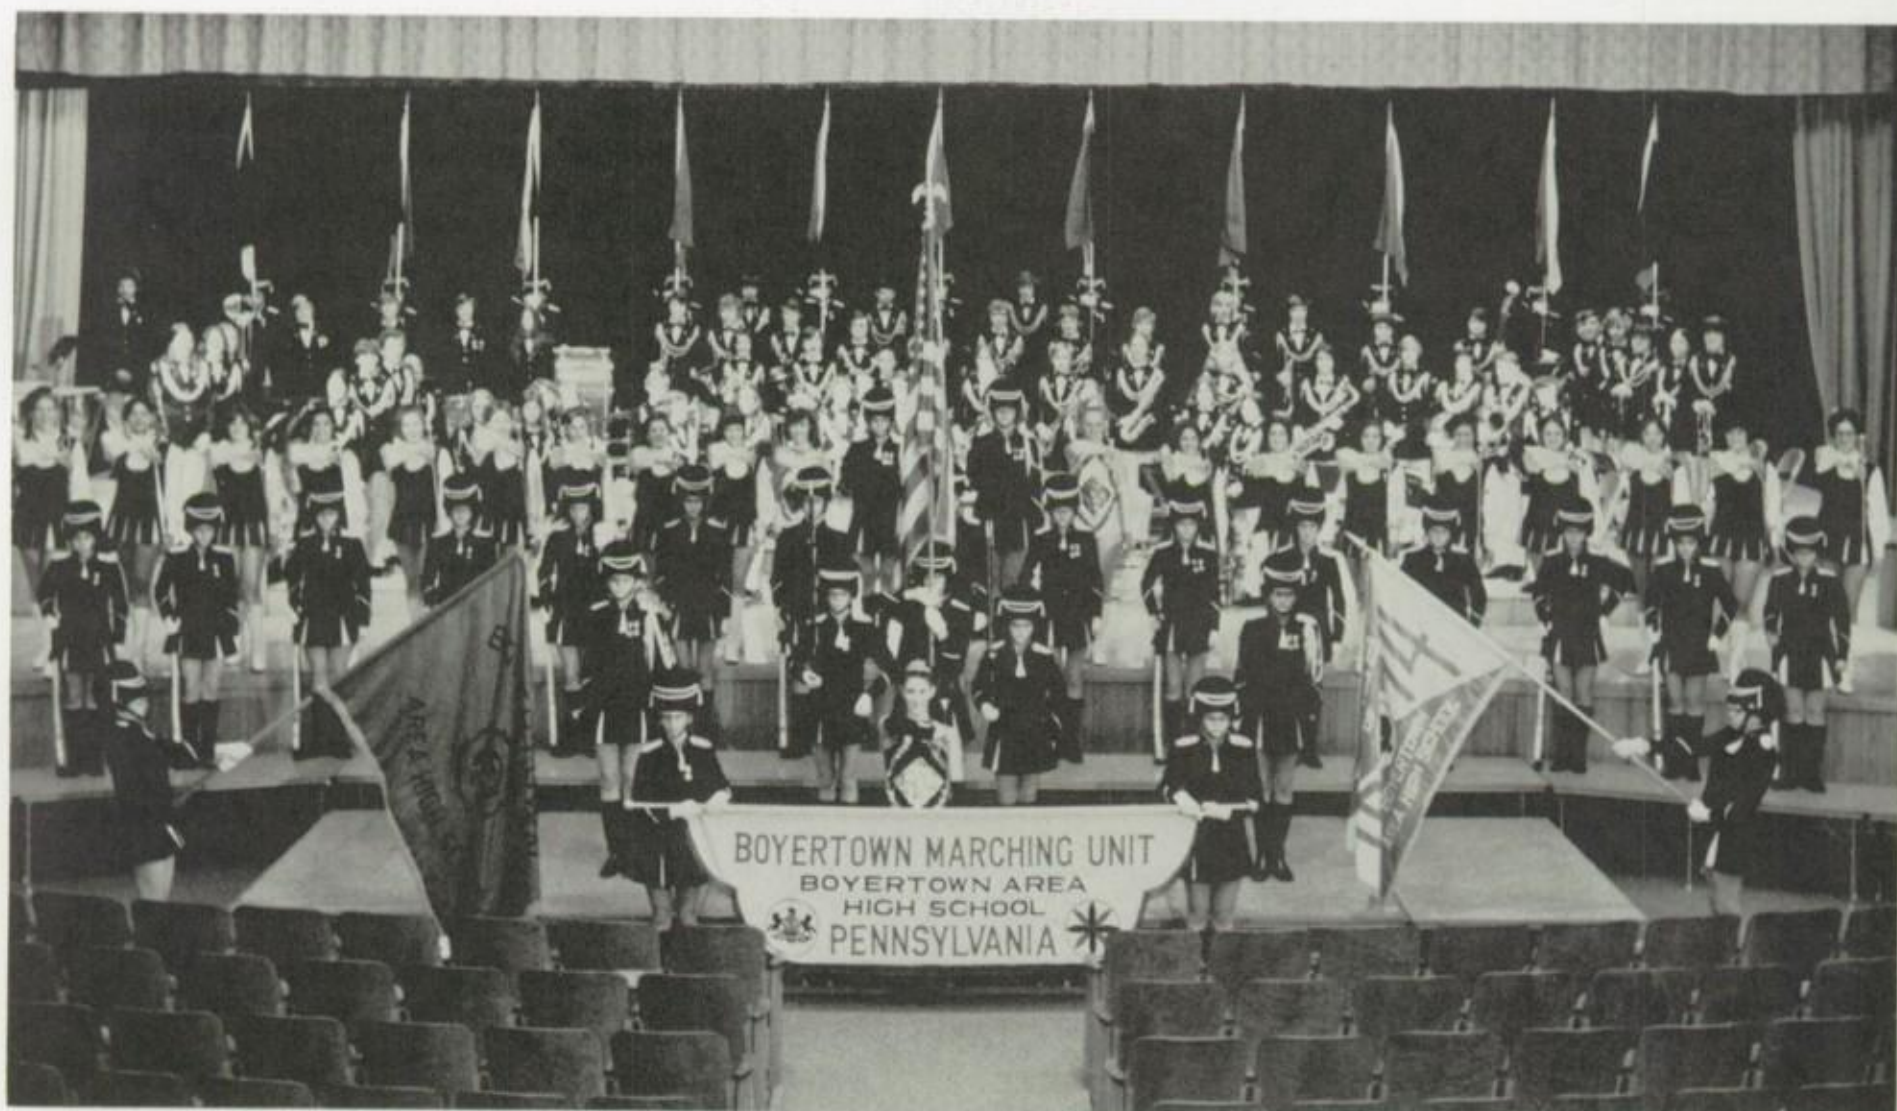

As members of the marching unit, we began this year with another long and trying football season. Although our membership was reduced, the unit maintained its fine record of performance and continued to participate in many activities throughout the school year.

We practiced and performed our field show for competition at Cardinal Dougherty's Parade of Champions at Convention Hall, Philadelphia, and won our ninth consecutive outstanding plaque — an achievement equaled by no other unit.

In addition to marching at various Halloween parades and the Harrisburg Businessmen's Association Parade, the unit produced, for the public, the annual Christmas Concert. During the winter, members of the band participated in Regional and District Bands.

As the school year ended, plans were made for a three-day trip to Alexandria, Virginia, in a student exchange program with members of the T. C. Williams High School. Besides presenting a joint concert with their high school, our group traveled to Washington, D. C., to film the unit at various national monuments throughout the city. We were also given an opportunity to sightsee and visit areas around Alexandria, Washington, and Georgetown.

The unit was led by Director Arlen Saylor. Officers of the 1973-74 season included: Kim Baker, Rifle Captain; Sue Gresh, Rifle Lieutenant; Sherie Sands, Flag Captain; Pat Reigner, Flag Lieutenant; Carol Stauffer, Twirling Captain; Betty Christ, First Twirling Lieutenant; Jayne Renninger, Second Twirling Lieutenant; Glenn Lelko, Band President; Lonny Dunning, Band Vice-president; Tina Smith, Band Secretary; Dawn Rhoads, Band Treasurer.

Members decrease;
quality endures

"The Sound of Music" was the climax of an exciting and extremely busy year for the Music Department. It was a great success. In fact, demands for tickets were so great that the show was extended for an extra night and was presented on May 16, 17, 18, 20, and 21.

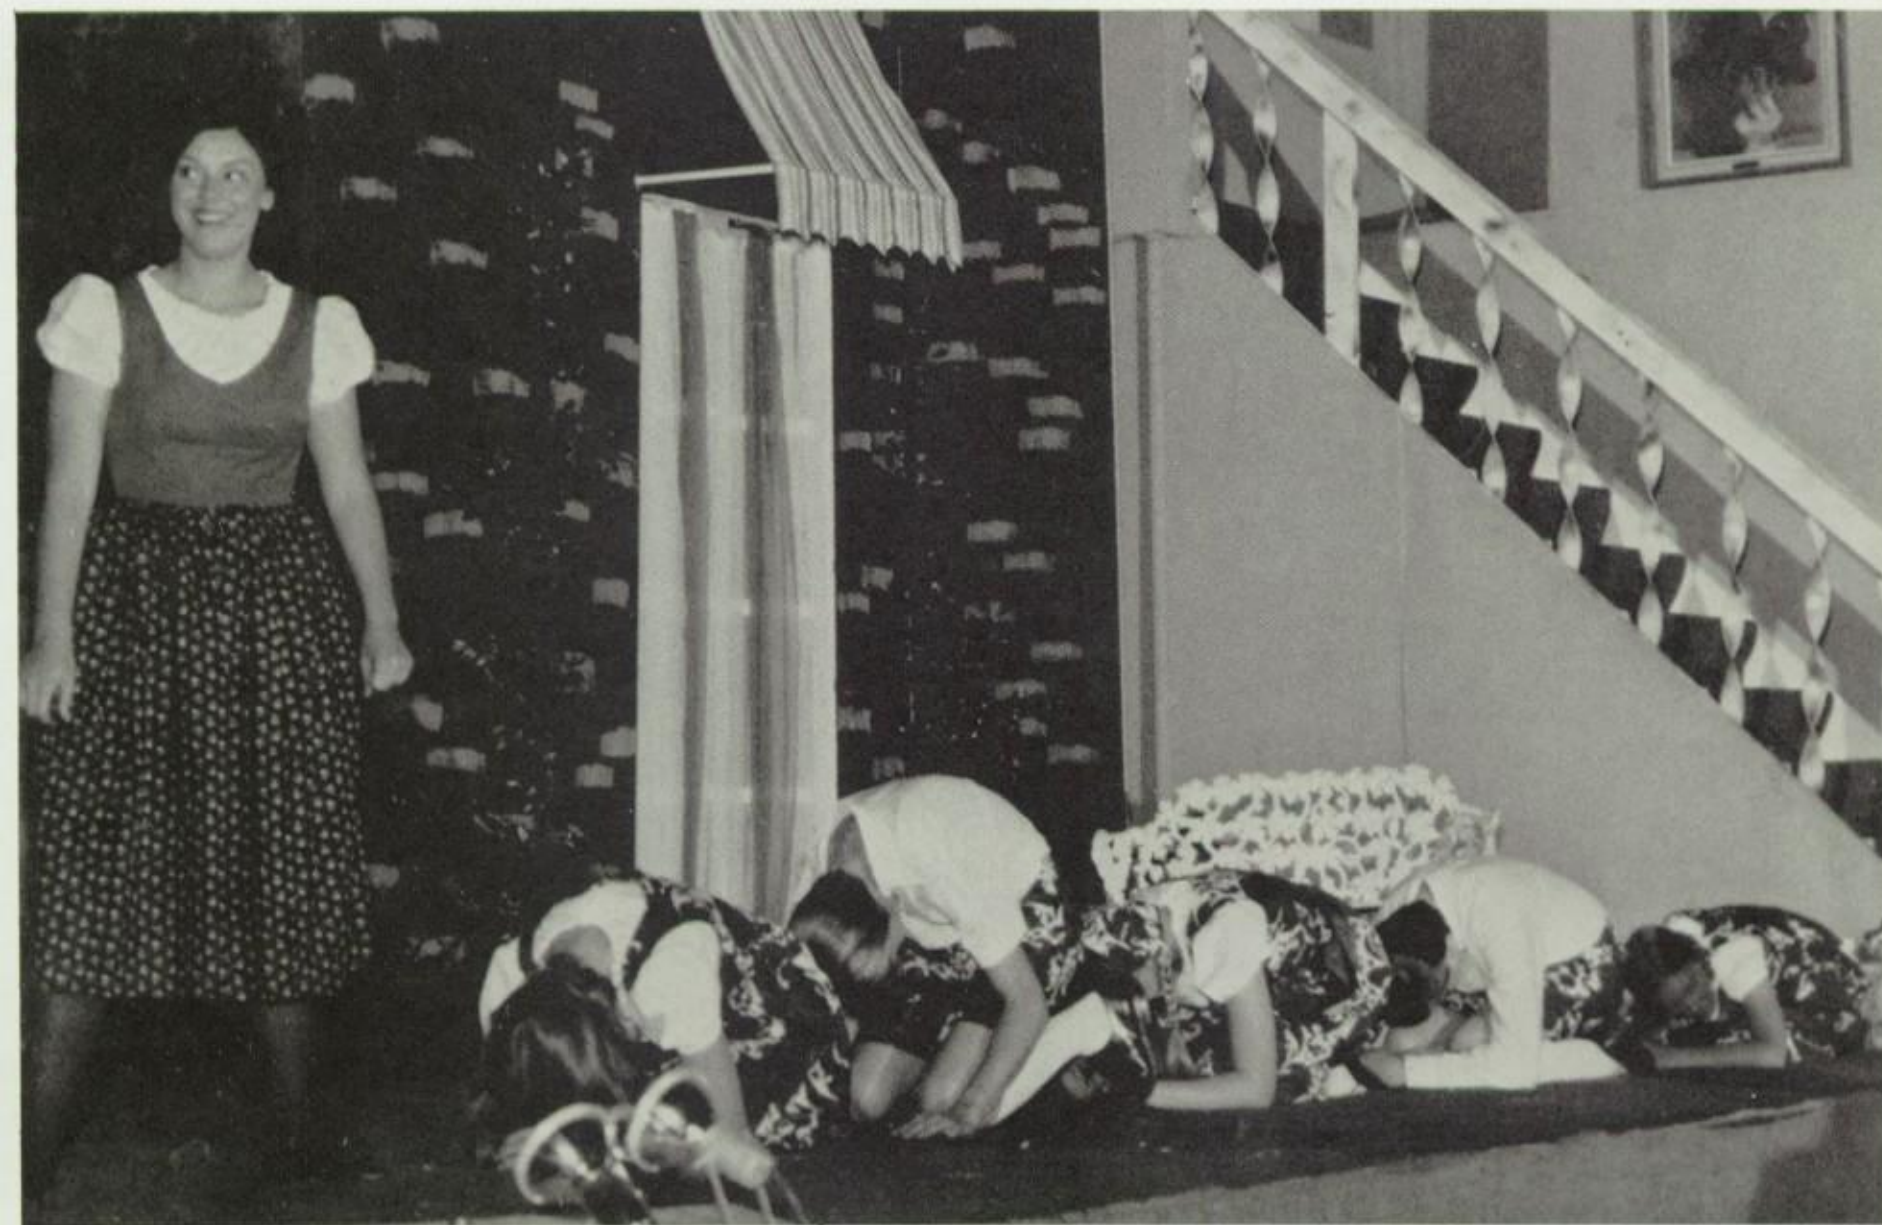

The story of the Von Trapp family and their encounter with an eventual love for Maria Rainer is well known. The audience greeted many of the songs, including "The Sound of Music," "Sixteen Going on Seventeen," and "Do Re Mi" with fond recognition.

Gwynne Geyer deserves high praise for her portrayal of Maria, and her supporting cast — Margie Stahl as Mother Abbess, Michael Fleisch as Captain Von Trapp, Koreen Kinckiner as Liesl, Jane Frank as Frau Schmidt, Jack Miller as Max Detweiler, James Detterline as Franz, and Judy Mest as Elsa — must also be given credit for the enthusiasm brought to the production.

Mrs. Margaretta Lamb and Mr. Robert Misko directed the show, and Mr. Charles Crummy managed set design and technical direction as well as directing the orchestra. The musical was a high point of the school year, both for the two thousand plus people who were in the audience and for the more than 160 students who were involved in the production.

Sound of Music runs extra night

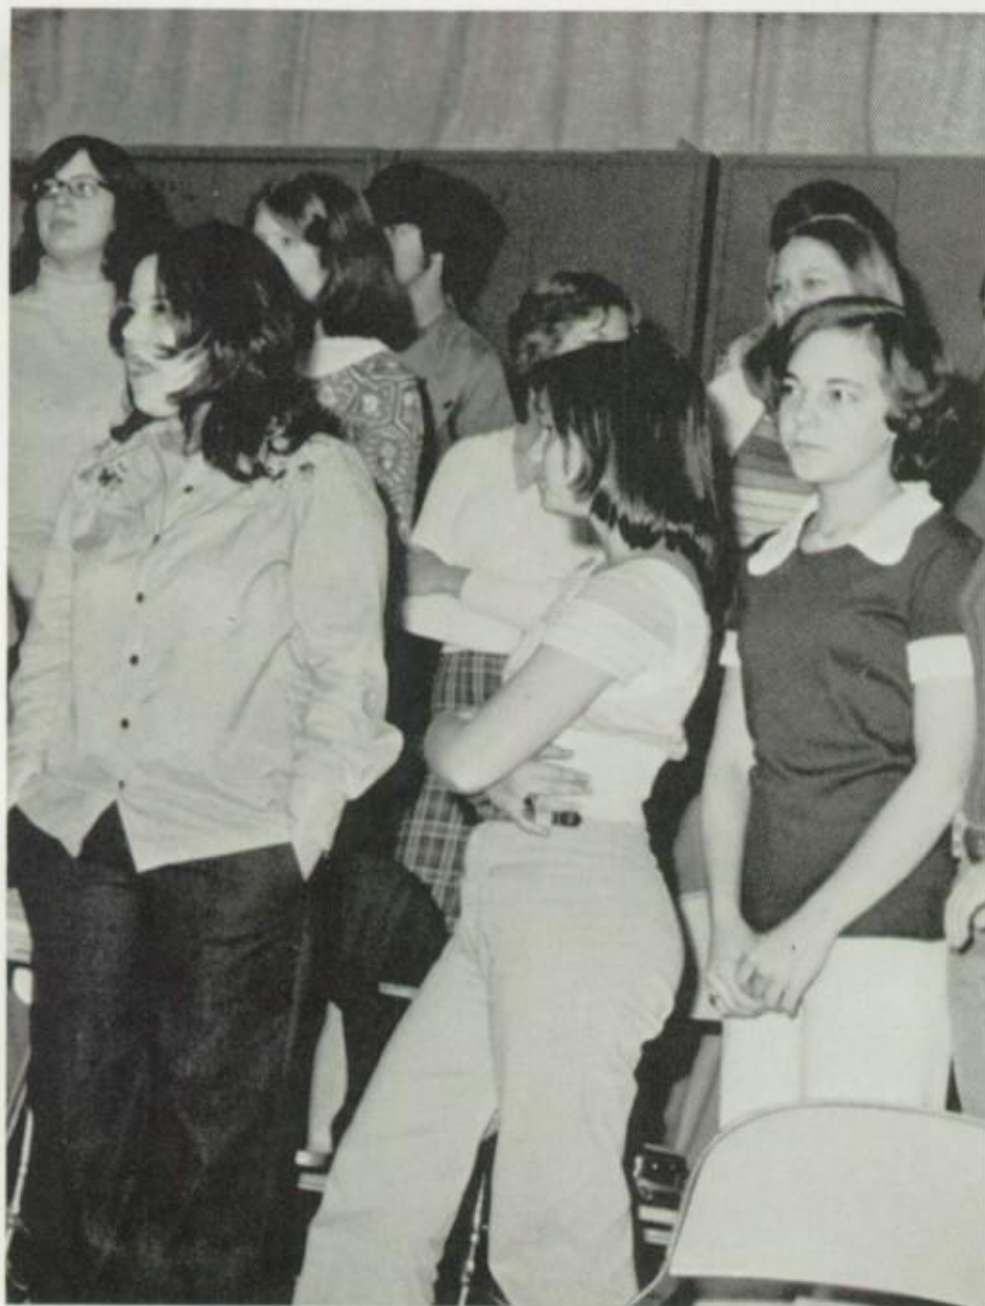

Voices in song

Room 422 was the meeting place every day for Mrs. Lamb and her faithful chorus. Those meetings meant work. Jogging, push ups, and isometric exercises all help to strengthen the diaphragm, so we jogged, pushed, and "isome-tricked" our way to good vocal quality. It worked. The vigorous daily exercises were quite beneficial to our choral activities. Those activities included the Christmas concert and Lenten services in area churches. The remainder of chorus' time was spent preparing for "The Sound of Music," the school's musical production.

We like to have chorus open to as many students as possible, and so there are three choruses from which to choose. Select chorus, which meets every day, was led by Gwynne Geyer, president; Luanne Weller, vice-president; and Roy Luckenbill, secretary. General chorus, meeting twice a week, had Karen Bieler as president. Ensemble is known as the "Dawn Patrol" because of their early morning meetings twice a week. Much of the past year's success can be attributed to chorus' ambitious director, Margaretta R. Lamb.

The orchestra is a fairly new organization in the school — begun a little over a year ago.

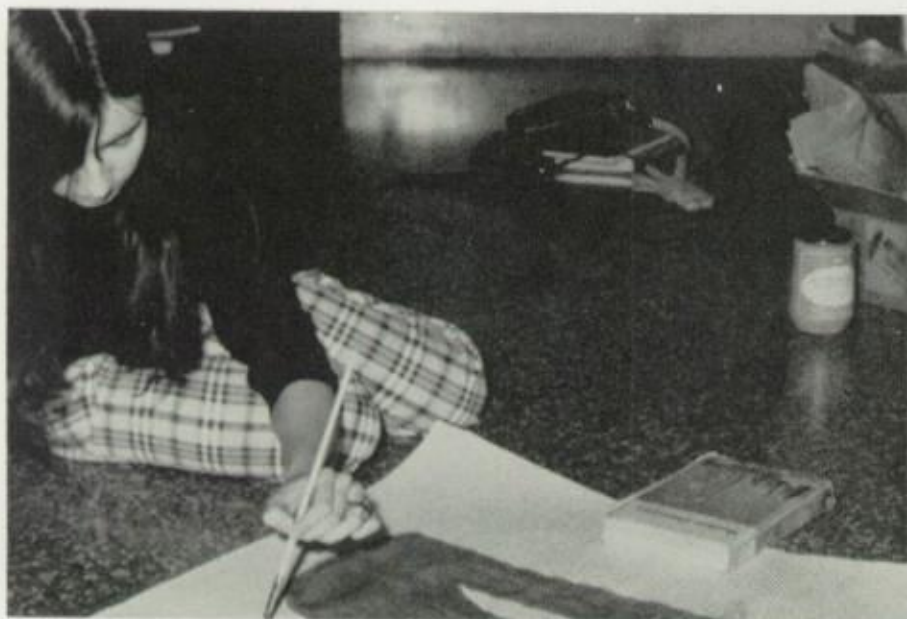

We provided the instrumentation for the musical, "The King and I," last year; and we prepared the instrumental background for this year's musical, "The Sound of Music."

The musicals, however, are not our only responsibility. We also work hard to present several concerts during the year, and we aid the chorus in their singing during Lenten Services.

The full orchestra meets only twice weekly. The stringed instruments meet separately at specific times, as do other groups. This helps us when it comes to putting everything together. Extra work on especially hard spots means less work when the full orchestra is together.

Orchestra is a group of kids who like to have fun, but at the same time, we must work hard to achieve our goals. The orchestra is under the direction of Mr. Charles F. Crummy.

Orchestra supplies musical backing.

The Pep Club is an enthusiastic force behind all teams, and their enthusiasm encourages everyone. The girls attend as many athletic events as they can, and make signs (which they hang in the halls) proclaiming their "dedication" to the teams. This year, club members were quite happy with the purchase of their jackets. They financed this project with cake and hoagie sales. Officers were Sharon Lytle, president; and Carol Matz, treasurer. Mrs. Barbara Zelesko was the adviser.

Snoopy's gang roars

The Class of 1975 presented a comedy production of You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown in the school auditorium on March 12, 14, 15, and 16.

The play, based on the Peanuts cartoon strip created by Charles Schultz, revolves around the antics of Charlie Brown, his friends, and his dog Snoopy. A backyard format served as a prop to the ups and downs of existence faced by the mistreated, misunderstood, and unappreciated Charlie Brown. Gradually, as the skits took him and his friends through the activities of a normal day, Charlie Brown began to recognize his own worth.

Featured in the play were Mark Niehls (Charlie), Scott Green (Linus), Jamie Heffner (Snoopy), Dave Smith (Schroeder), Bonnie Schanley and Bev Spayd (Lucy), and Mary Mercer and Sandy Eckert (Patty).

Mrs. Betty Fulmer directed the play and cast members began work in January. It was a very successful project for the Junior Class.

Court holds to tradition

Tradition reigned at the 1974 Valentine's Dance, from the red and white gowns worn by the girls on the court to the huge heart that formed a backdrop for the night's activities. The dance was held at the school on February 16. Members of the court — seated: Carol Stauffer, Dani Retzlaff, Martha Andersen, Dawn Stone, Patsy Erb, Sue Speilman. Standing: Dale Moser, David Frain, Joe Priest, Jeff Rinehimer, Randy Conrad (1973 King), Sue Kutterbach (1972 Queen), Angie Levengood (1974 Queen), Lisa Wade, Brian Spence (1974 King), George Graham, Barry Erb, Tim Landis.

On May 24, 1974, we held our Junior Dinner Dance at the Gilbertsville Fire House. It was a time for suits and gowns and beautiful flowers. We had worked hard on invitations to the faculty, registration, and decorations such as an arbor, fence, punch fountains, and centerpieces.

Though many of the preparations were traditional, this year's Dinner Dance had a relaxed rather than a formal atmosphere. It may have been caused by the unique arrangement of the tables or by the great music of Rain. Whatever the reason, we thought this year's dance was outstanding.

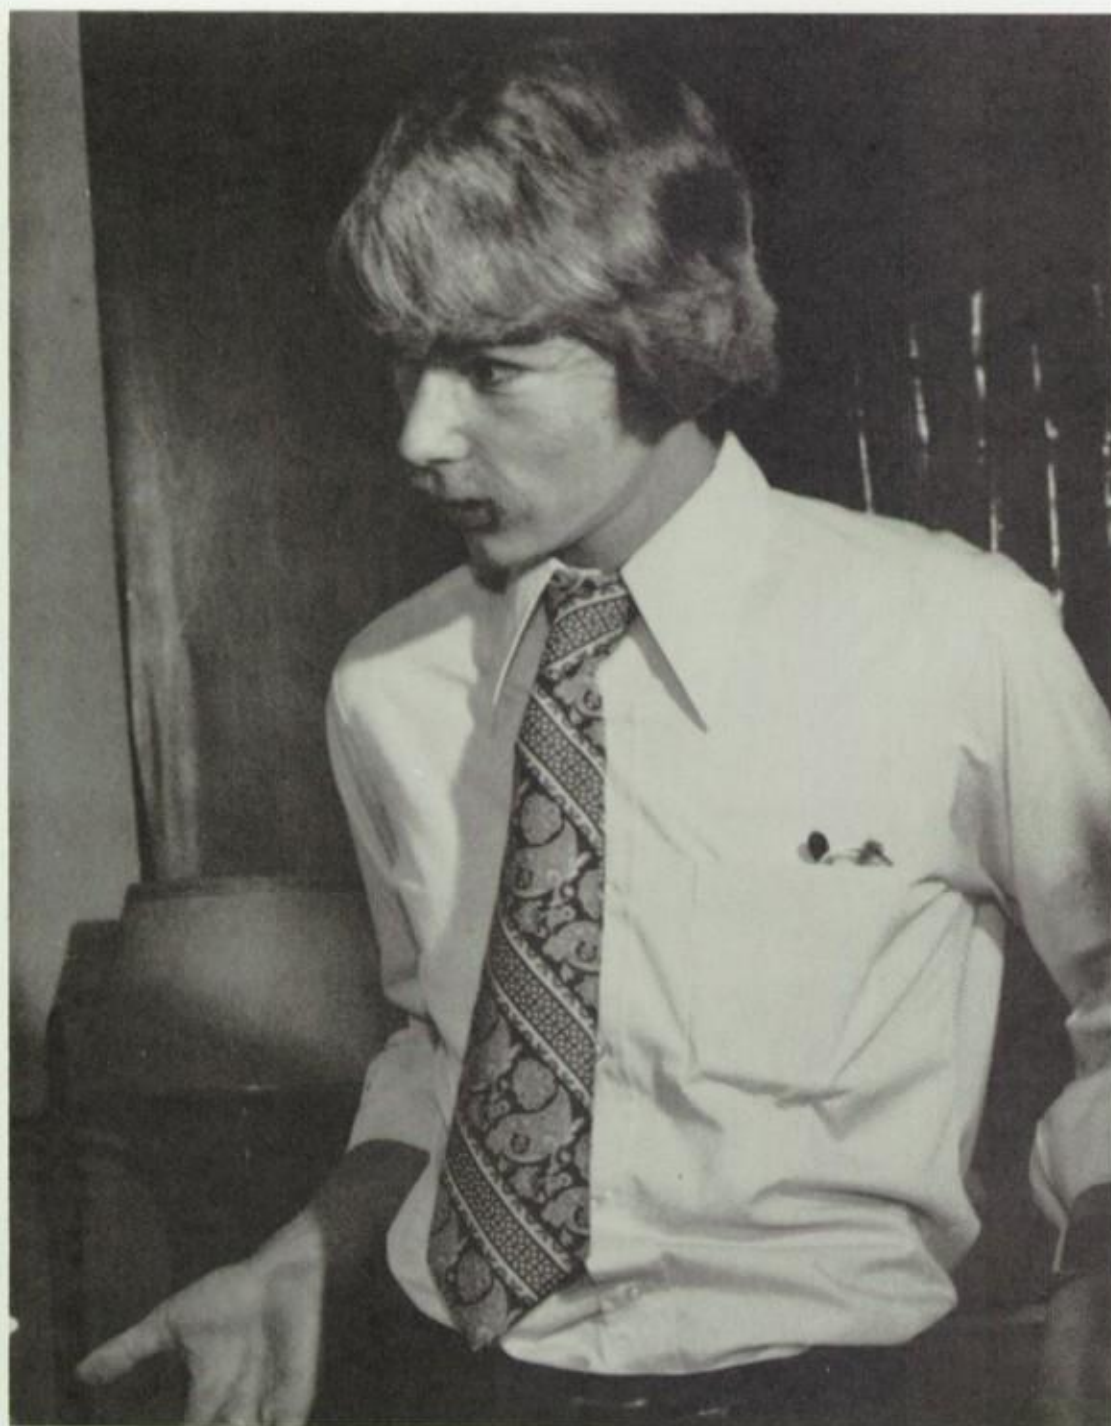

Chairpersons responsible for the success were dinner dance, Brenda Dunkelberger; decorating, Elaine Wentzel; invitations, Rowan Carter; and registration, Brenda Imbody.

It was opening night in the auditorium. Laughter filled the place — it was heard even in the halls — as we watched the escapades of our fellow classmates on stage.

The Senior class play, The Father of the Bride, was a satire revolving around one family's reaction to the marriage of the daughter. Deserving particular merit for their performances were seniors Jack Miller, Dave Ritter, Joan Spohn, Gwynne Geyer, and Pete Bugbee. Miller was commentator of fights between the father (Ritter) and the bride (Spohn), while Geyer played the bustling mother and Bugbee, the nervous groom. The play was directed by Mr. Robert Wood.

The cast worked hard and tried its best to give us an enjoyable evening. All of the forgotten lines, lengthy practices, and opening jitters paid off — we raked in a stunning profit.

Castle and elegance sets enchanted mood for Seniors

Our prom was held at Stokesay Castle this year. Enchantment was the mood set for the night, and indeed it was with a warm aura set by the candlelit hall. Following picture taking, a buffet dinner featured an elegant course of prime rib, ham, and lobster newburg.

We amused ourselves after dinner by wandering through the dungeon and stepping out on the moonlit patio. We then found our way inside and danced to the music of The Statesmen until 12:00, the end of the prom.

Post prom included the usual hypnotist, snack time, and rock group. While waiting between activities, one ingenious group watched a TV set that they had brought along. Other sleepy-eyed youths caught a snooze or two until the group, Hoji, began to play. At 5:00, the post prom ended with quite a few seniors left. But no one left empty handed. Glasses and booklets were used as souvenirs and will always revive fond memories of the prom.

CLASS MOTTO: I shall pass this way but once,
Therefore, any good that I can do,
Any kindness I can show
Let me do it now
For I shall pass this way but once.
CLASS FLOWER: Daisy
CLASS COLORS: Navy blue and cream
CLASS SONG: The Class of '74

CHORUS

We're the class of '74
And we are opening a new door
To a world of struggle,
A world of freedom.
A world of prosperity.
We're the class of '74
And we are going through the door
To make a better world for you and me.

VERSE I

We spent twelve long years of our lives together.
We stuck it out through thick and thin together;
And now as we're about to go our separate ways,
We forget the fun we've had during our school days.

VERSE II

So now we must face the problems of tomorrow,
But we know we'll reach what we're striving for.
And as we leave our own dear Boyertown High
We have to bid all of our friends good luck and goodby.

As seniors of '74, we spent our last day in school at Class Day. Throughout the speeches and presentations of awards, the gifts and dedications given, we knew this was our day to be honored. We shared the many memories of twelve years with our friends. We cried when Jane Frank sang our class song and when Mr. Ballantyne said good-by to us. Class Day was truly a climax of our years spent together.

Some of the major awards presented included: Lester K. Fryer Scholarship: Kevin Lessig, Susan Gehringer
 G. Marcella Wise Trophy: Denise Schonely
 Lawrence E. Grim Trophy: Paul Myers, Lauren Steffan
 McGuire Trophy: Mark Martin
 Senior Choral Award: Gwynne Geyer
 John Philip Sousa Memorial Award: Glenn Lelko, Lonnie Dunning
 F. Gladys High Award: Carol Stauffer
 Blanche R. and Daniel B. Boyer Scholarship: Kathie Hums, Kevin Lessig
 Boosters' Club Award: Mark Martin
 George M. Sell Memorial Scholarship: Kathie Hums
 BLC Scholarship: Rick Moatz
 GLC Scholarship: Kathie Hums, Karen Arthur, Deborah Dotterer
 Specht Memorial Award: Kim Rightmyer
 FNA Scholarship: Candace Trace, Susan Gehringer
 BAEA Scholarship: Judy Mest, George Wolfgang

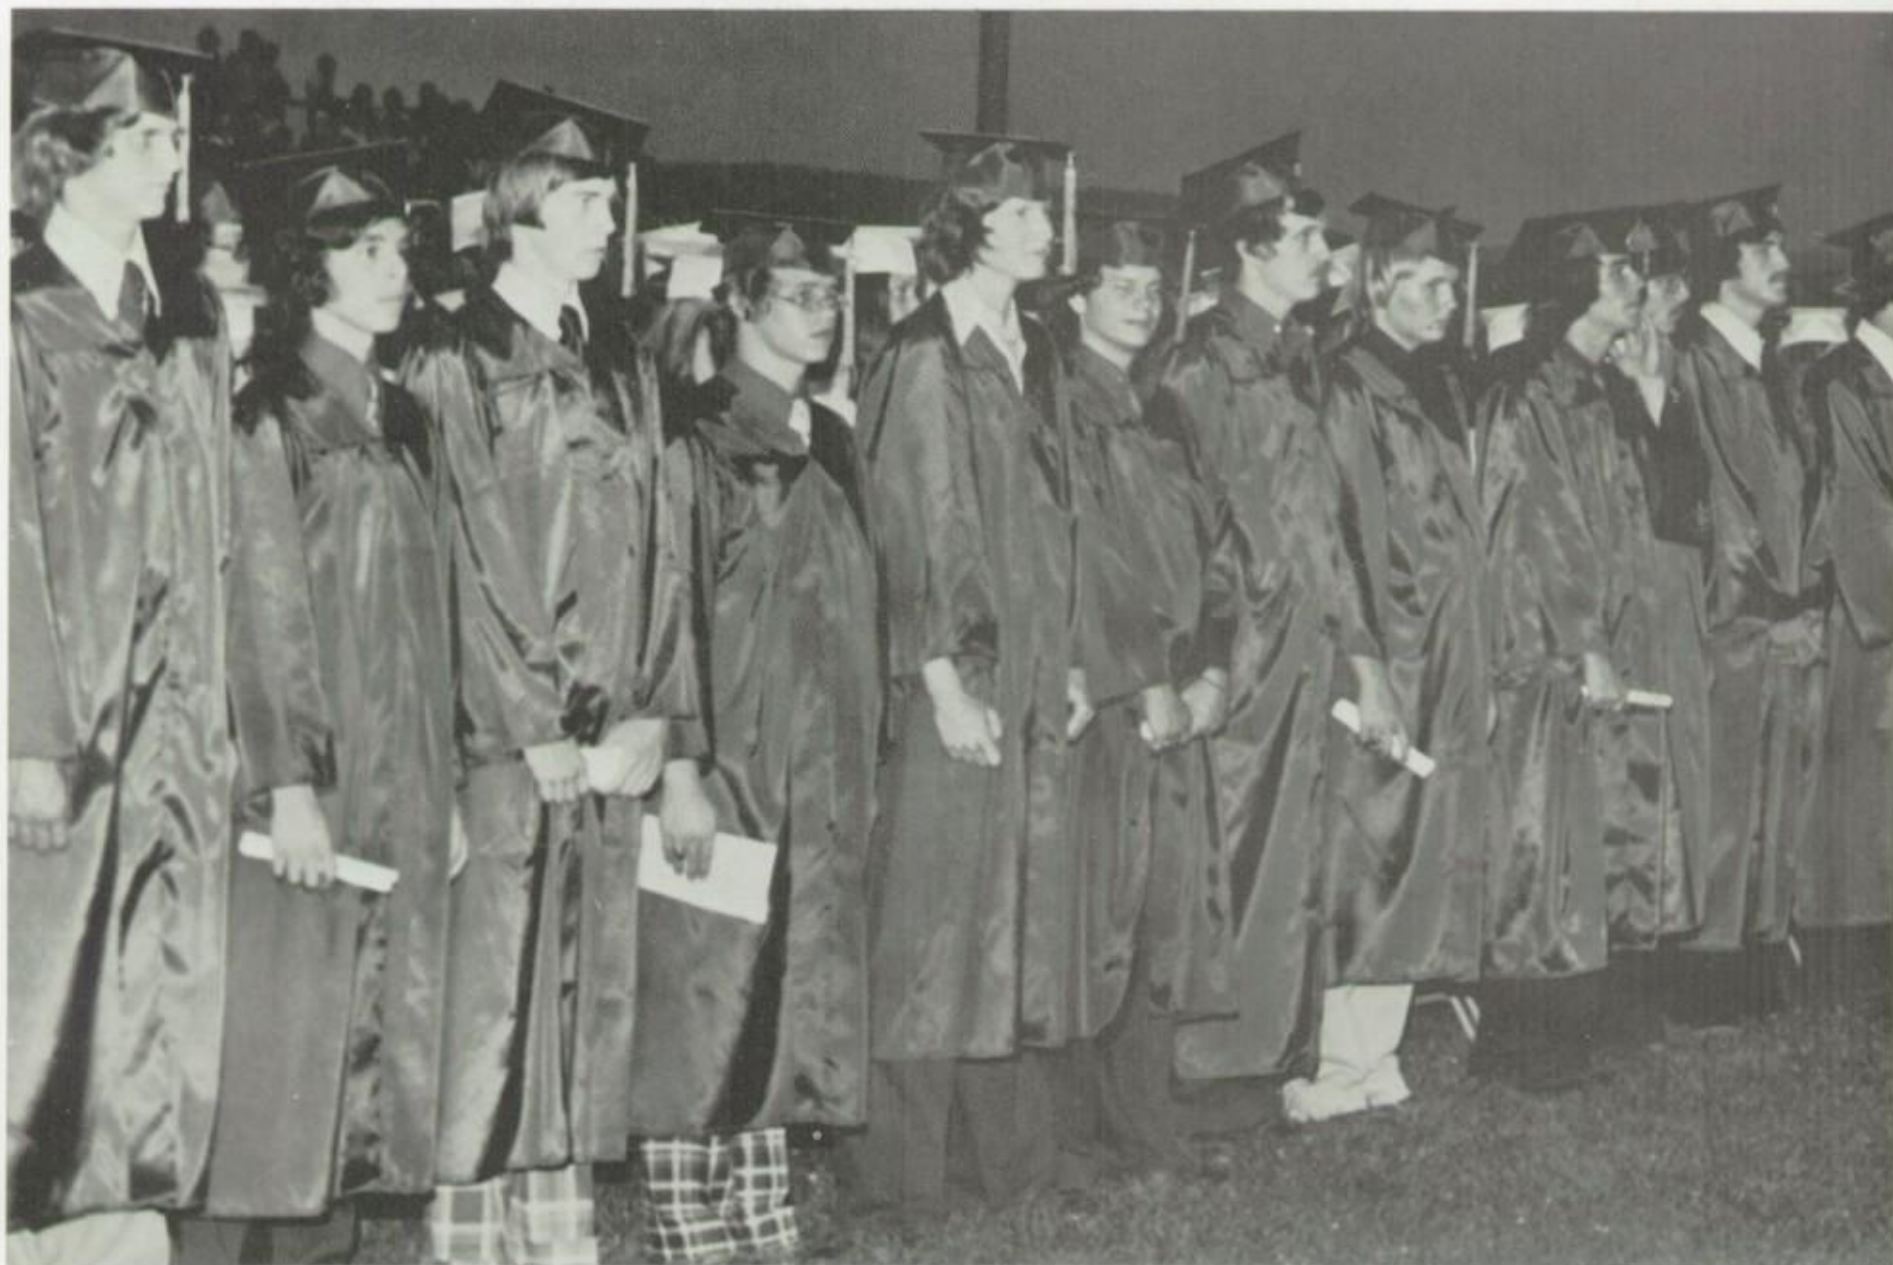

Class Day brings awards

We, the Class of '74, left BASH as the largest class ever to graduate. Our graduation ceremony, though traditional in many respects, was highlighted by variations.

For instance, we changed the pathway of the march by coming out under the trees and marching down the athletic field steps. We were led by our top scholars, who carried the United States and the class flags. Once in our places, our caps formed a "74" outlined in blue on white. In Commencement, we continued our own traditions of daring to be different and of demonstrating our pride.

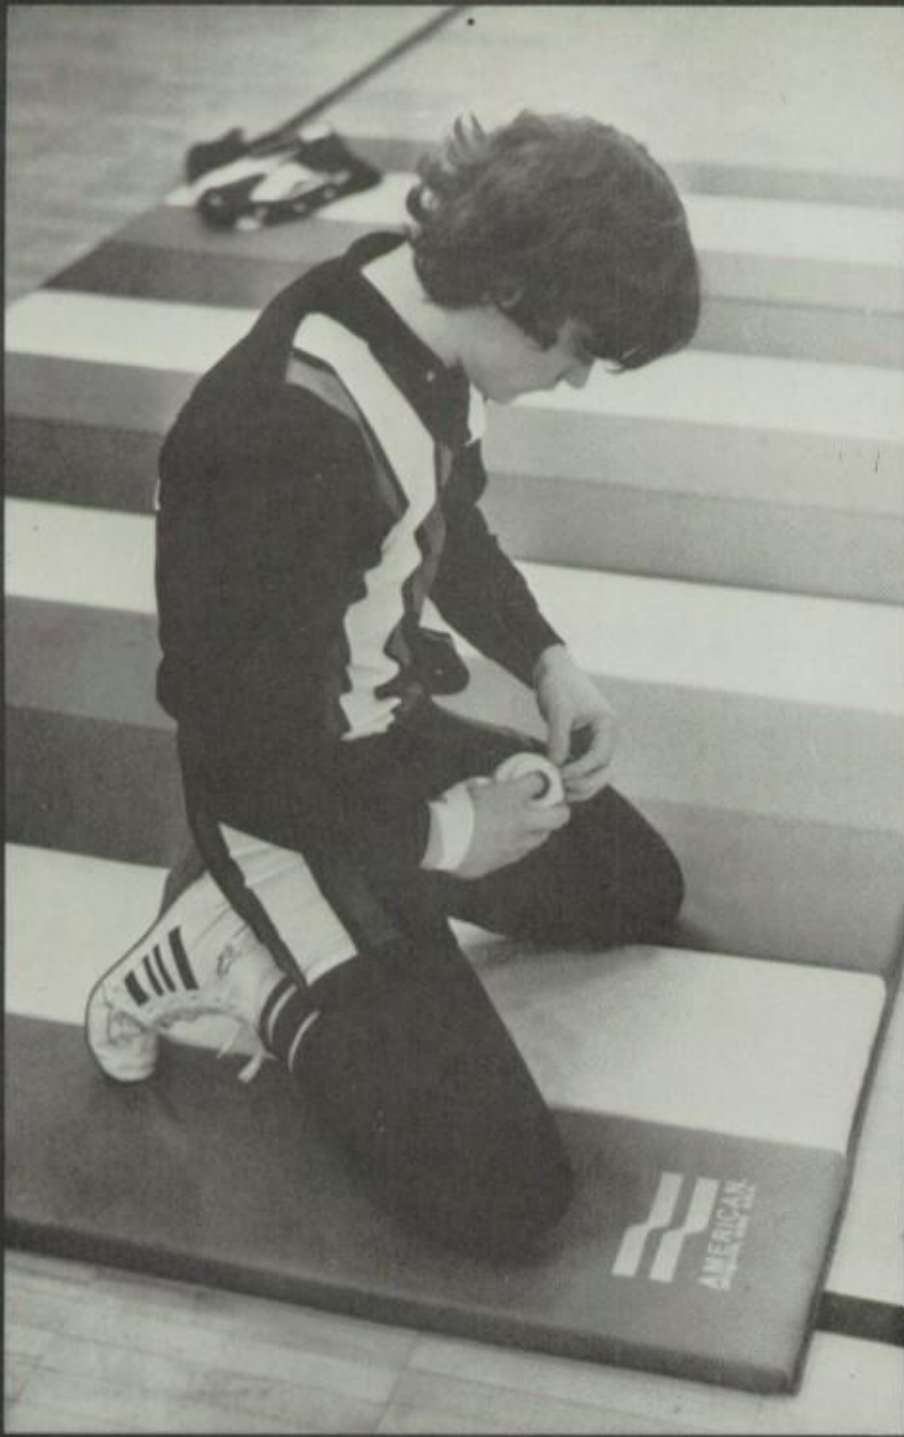

During the first few speeches, we as seniors felt sad as we realized we would never be members of BASH again. We could always look back, but we could never relive those unique experiences. Kathie Hums, our salutatorian, remarked on this, while Kevin Lessig, our valedictorian, urged us to go forward and seek understanding with our fellowman. We felt closer when we understood how typically Kevin-like was his reference to Lord of the Rings.

Most of us wept when Jane Frank had all of us sing our class song. We wept for our departure from all the years we had spent together. But we were joyful as we realized that we had years of happiness and fulfillment ahead. We left the field smiling.

Determination triggers Bears

The Bears opened their 1973 football season backed by more school spirit than ever before. Coaching for the first time at Boyertown, Mr. Lynn Sorber guided us in games against the toughest competition ever seen in the Ches-Mont League.

We had that determination so admirably suited to a winner. We had the running power of Joe Priest and Rick Moatz. Defensively, Paul Myers and Tim Landis headlined the tackling brigade. In the arm of Dale Moser we all saw a valid hope for victory. We had drive, leadership — all the necessary elements for a vital and vibrant team. The only thing we didn't have was a winning season.

But there was excitement. We celebrated together with a victory march after upsetting the West Chester Warriors. There was blood. The defeat of the Phoenixville Phantoms had Gary Keyser so psyched that he shattered a bus window with his head. There was entertainment. In the team shed before practice we listened to the knee-slapping jokes of Brian Spence, a la Bob Hope.

And finally there were honors. Three of our talented varsity stars received special recognition for their outstanding effort this year. Paul Myers, defensive tackle, made All-Ches-Mont first team, most valuable defensive player in the league, All-Berks second team defense, and our team's MVP. Dale Moser, quarterback, achieved All-Berks first team and Gary Keyser made All-Ches-Mont second team offense.

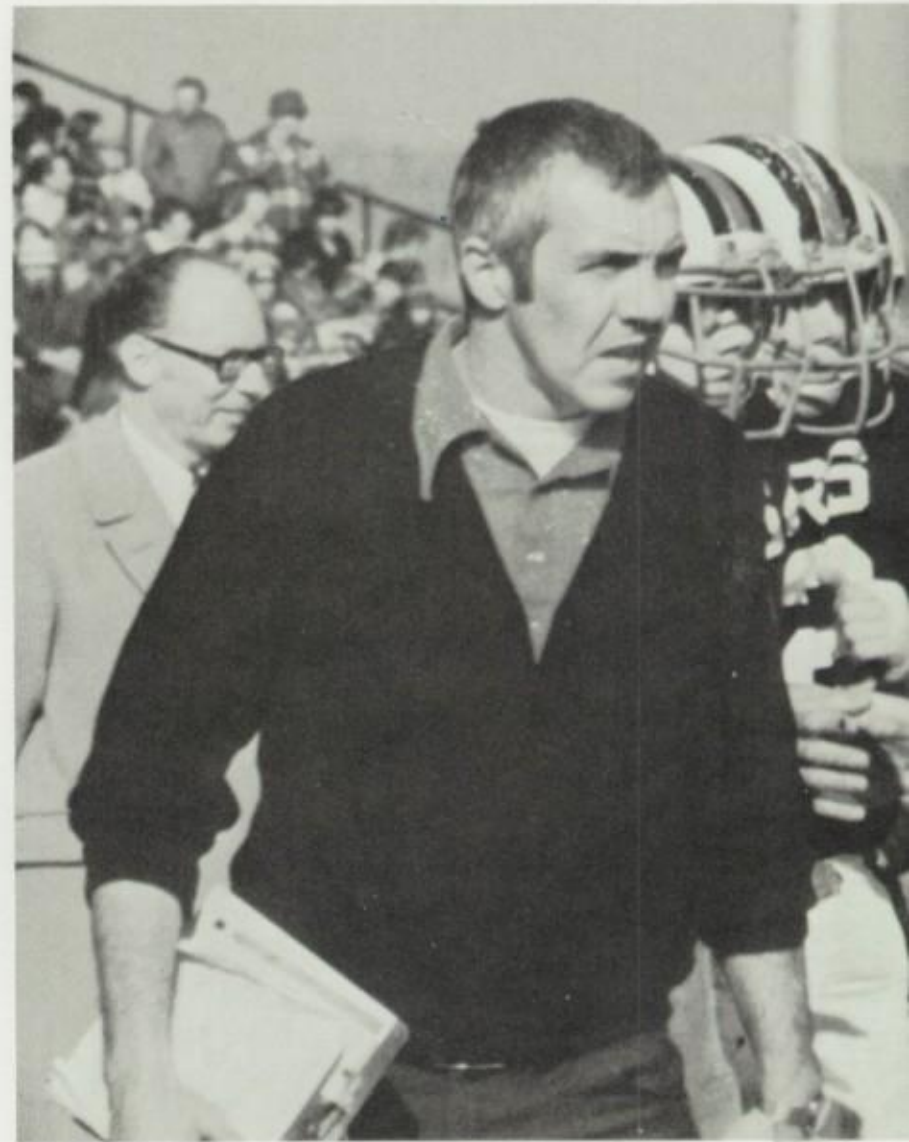

It was not a spectacular year, but the smell of leather and Atomic Balm mingled with screams of triumph are things not soon to be forgotten.

Spirit Day Parade adds enthusiasm

The cheerleaders did a great job of adding spirit to the football and basketball teams this year. They added new cheers, the Spirit Parade, morning pep rallies, and arranged for the Psyche Band to play at all home basketball games. (below) Shown in action is the cheering squad at the Thanksgiving Day football game. Bearettes place second in league

Our hockey team brought home a winning season of 8-3-1, finishing second in the Ches-Mont League. Under Coach Sue Benfield, we were led by co-captains Sally Smith and Denise Schonely.

Summer practice highlighted a traditional conflict between girls' and boys' sports. We arrived for practice to find that the j.v. hockey field had been confiscated by the ninth grade football team. So our fifty-member team went through the season with one dusty field for its use, while we were surrounded by several green football fields.

Another highlight occurred when we beat the visiting Amazons by a score of 3-1 in our first night game. For those who weren't in attendance, the Amazons are a group of alumni hockey players. Silent cheers, a swamp on the field, and a mud-covered team finished the season with a victory at Phoenixville, a worthwhile way to end the season.

Harriers suffer

In cross country there are great seasons — terrific seasons when you can't do anything wrong — you keep winning, and from the least expected places, stars emerge. And there are painful seasons when no matter who you are, what you do, or how hard you try, you just can't get it together. . . . We had a painful season.

Our coach, Mr. Don Hendricks, tried to remold a squad from last year's remnants after losing most of his varsity to graduation. The small turnout — which dwindled to four lettermen by the end of the season — put us at a disadvantage in the league. It was a rough year. In spite of everything, though, we did have strong individual performances from seniors Mark Martin and Barry Dierolf. We are also looking to Lamar Foley and Percy Morris as two promising candidates to lead us to high position in the Ches-Mont standing next year.

New coach shares glory with Bears' rally over Trojans

Our shooting stars had a good season — 15-7. We got off to a bad start with a loss to Owen J. Roberts in our first league game, but in the next game we defeated West Chester, the eventual '74 Ches-Mont champs. Unfortunately, we missed the second-half playoffs and only took third place in the league.

This year Mr. John McCloskey made his debut as Boyertown's basketball coach. Both coach and team had moments of glory — like beating Pottstown for the first time in two years. But then there were those times nobody would believe. Remember that JV game with the time-out? The score was tied in double overtime . . . a hush hung over the crowd . . . and Pete Madeja and Barry Erb came dribbling out of the locker room for warm-ups.

Ups, downs, but always worth it. It was a season we will remember.

Team coaches for YMCA

Doing a roundoff-backhandspring-back layout dive-roll might sound slightly difficult to the average BASH student. But to eleven girls on the gymnastics team, this maneuver has almost become second nature. After practicing six to eight hours a week, the girls probably do cartwheels and back flips in their sleep.

Under Head Coach Tom McCarthy and assistant Coach Fay High, the '73-'74 gymnastics team took on a new activity this year. Once a week from September to December, the girls coached a YMCA clinic held at the elementary school. Everyone in the school district was invited to attend these classes to learn skills on the various pieces of apparatus. The apparatus included mats, uneven parallel bars, trampoline, balance beam, and the horse.

Unfortunately, because of the energy situation, the gymnastics team was unable to attend scheduled meets in Delaware and New York.

Cheerleaders aid in Parents' Night

Team call, Set Ready-O Let's go! Kathie! Sharon! Karen! Cle! Kory! Laurie! So began a typical Wednesday night wrestling match.

Parents' Night was particularly nerve-racking. "If I stick somebody with a pin I'll just die!" But all went well: the flowers didn't wilt, and the fathers' Bear pins were distributed without major injuries. We were glad when that night ended.

On Thursdays, during eighth period, we painted posters. "Make 'em see the lights" and "Give 'em a big Bear hug" were some of our creations gracing the halls. Involved in all our projects was Mrs. Charlotte Cubbler, adviser.

During one match we had to ride with the boys. I would have thought it impossible, but for two and a half hours at a shot I kept my mouth shut. That was coming home from Spring Ford . . . we lost.

The agony. . .

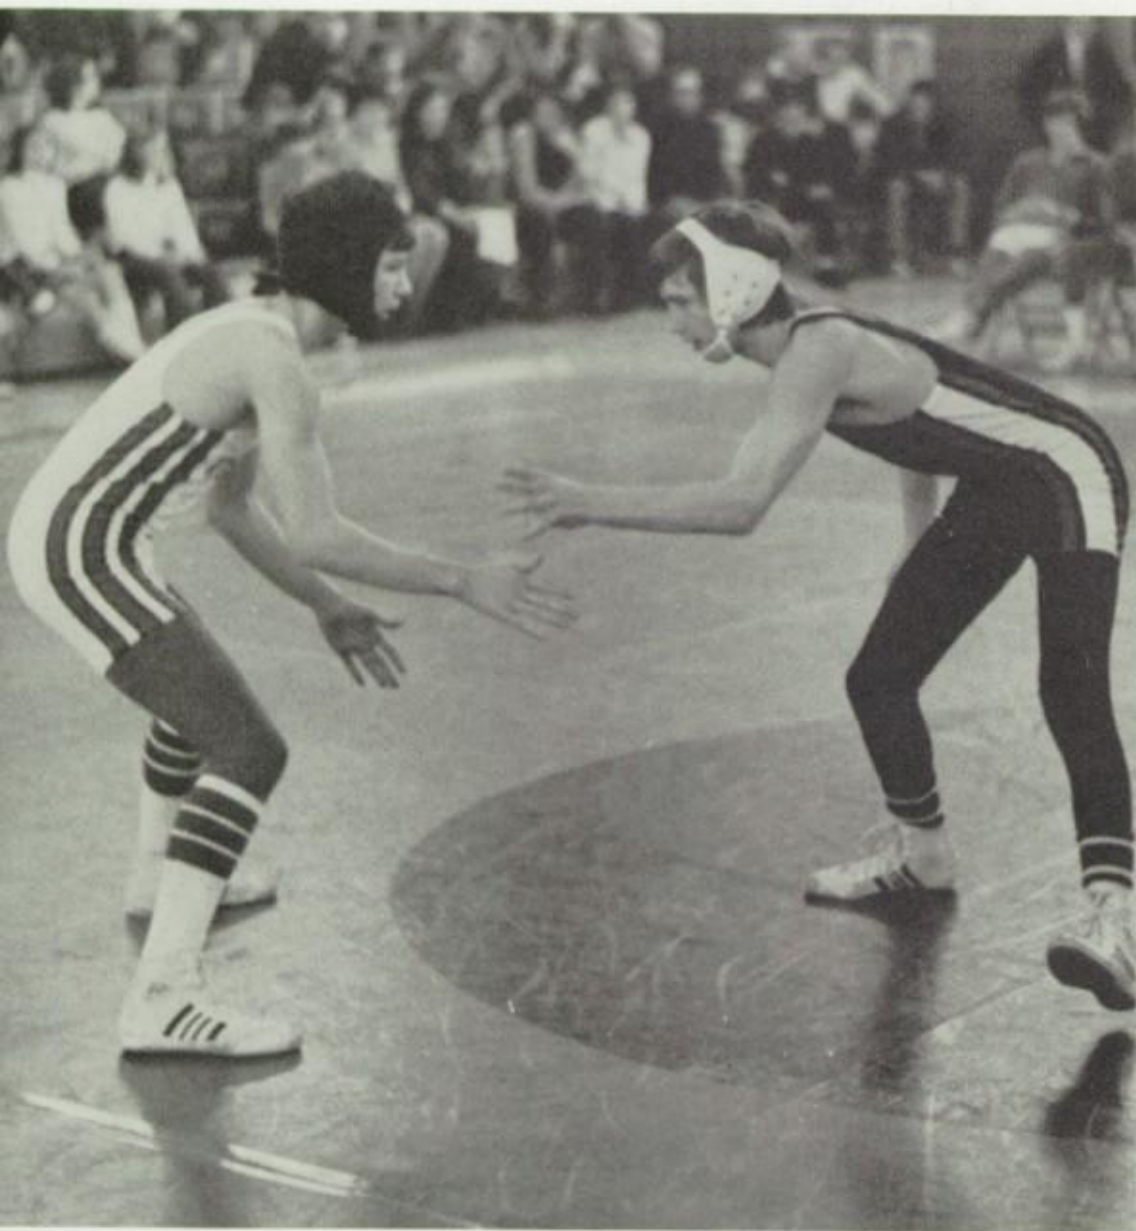

If I lost it was not from want of trying. I put out my best — I always did. I contributed my entire soul and many pounds. Well, it's over, it's done. My loss, the pain, and the tears will be cut and dry statistics in tomorrow's Pottstown Mercury. A cold shower and a pat on the back rather than the ringing hosannas of praise bring home the reality of my defeat.

Paul Myers (hwt.) and George Graham (155) placed second in Sectionals, while Gary Keyser (185) placed third. Keyser, Graham, Myers, Shaner, and Tim Landis will be greatly missed next year, as they totaled nearly sixty victories this season for the Bears.

My head pounded with anticipation; my stomach became a tense gut-tearing knot. But I was loose; I was ready. The buzzer rang. Now it was only him against me. Arms, legs, and a sweat mingled in a test of stamina, endurance, and strength.

And then — I won! How sweet is victory! Hallelujah and holy perspiration filled the locker room, making all the anxiety, sit-ups, and hunger pangs worthwhile.

The beginning of our 1973-74 basketball season looked promising. We had a good defense, five returning lettermen, and we were confident, perhaps over confident, of our playing ability. Going into the fourth game of the season our record was 3-0; going into the fourth quarter against Coatesville we were up by thirteen points. Nothing seemed to work for the Bearettes during the rest of that game, and we were defeated by six points. Then came the Pottsgrove "stall" game which resulted in our second defeat of the season. We won our next three games in exciting, well-played style before losing the last three games of the year. Throughout the season we played together as a team, and after that last game we realized that the togetherness of the team was more important than being #1.

Even in a disappointing season such as this one, we had fun practicing against the alumni, hiding from the rest of the team during practice, learning to "crash those boards!", and being told "you can't do that in this situation." Under head coach, Sue Benfield, and assistant coach, Marcia Brumbach, the team was led by co-captains Roxanne Willman and Martha Andersen.

Hustlers in pinafores

Bearettes join new league

As the season opened we were a bit apprehensive about our future. We were basically a young, inexperienced team playing in a new league. It was not unusual for three freshmen to be in the starting line-up. After a nine day delay because of rain, our season finally got underway with an 11-0 routing of Schuylkill Valley.

As our season progressed, the competition proved stiff. We lost several games because of one inning's weakness in each game. We just didn't function as a unit.

Finally we started getting it together. We still weren't winning, but we were close. After a forfeit from Conrad Weiser, we managed to get back that winning style again to beat Schuylkill Valley and bring home a thrilling 13-12 victory over Muhlenberg. Our season ended rather abruptly when our last game with Governor Mifflin was cancelled because of scheduling problems.

The team was led by co-captains Dawn Stone and Cindy Moyer and was coached by Miss Susan Benfield.

Our track team had an outstanding season this year by setting and resetting some Berks County records. Mark Martin did an excellent job, setting two Ches-Mont records with a time of 1:55.2 min. in the 880 and 49.4 sec. in the 440, and running in both events in the state meet. Junior Steve Youse also won two school records with a time of 14.7 sec. in the high hurdles and a time of 40.9 sec. in the 330 Intermediate Hurdles events. The team of Joe Priest, Mark Martin, Steve Youse, and Dave Johnson set a school record of 45.0 sec. in the 440 yard relay, and the sprint medley-also set a Berk's record.

Other outstanding members who placed in field events were George Graham and Pete Jensch, pole vault; Gary Keyser, shot-put; Mike Repko, javelin; and Mike Davidheiser, discus. Barry Erb and Joe Priest also excelled in the triple jump and high jump.

Our team annually hosts the Venzke Relays on our athletic field. This year, we had a great turnout with over 600 entries submitted to race.

Invincible Bears clinched first in C-M league

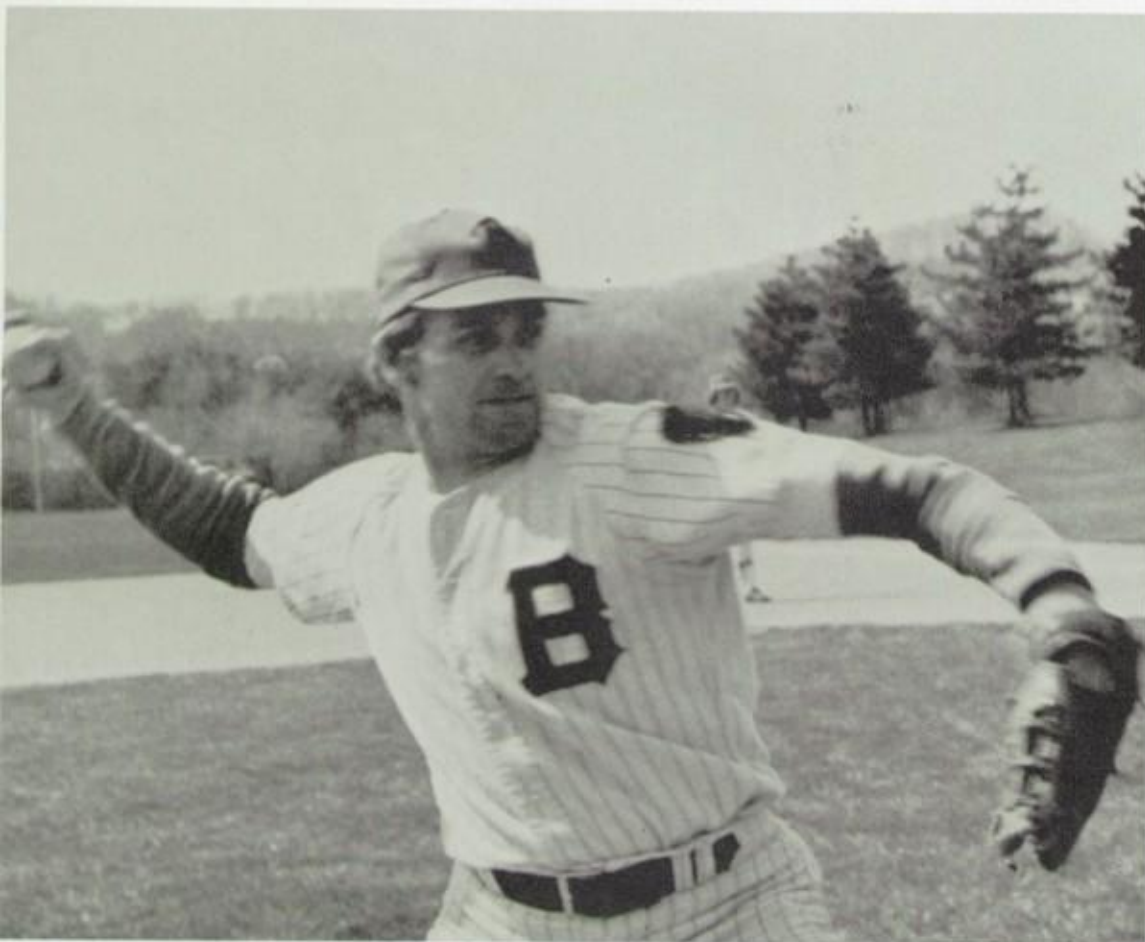

Starting our season with soaring hopes and insurmountable spirit, we clinched the title of Ches-Mont champs for the second season in a row. We placed first in the Ches-Mont League, with an overall league mark of 11-2. The light of our success and glory also shone on Mr. Richard Ludy, who coached his first season with us.

Equipped with determination and skill, novice pitchers Phil Vanim and Mark Kish both pitched a no-hitter. Carl Kramer and Rick Moatz held the highest batting average on the team.

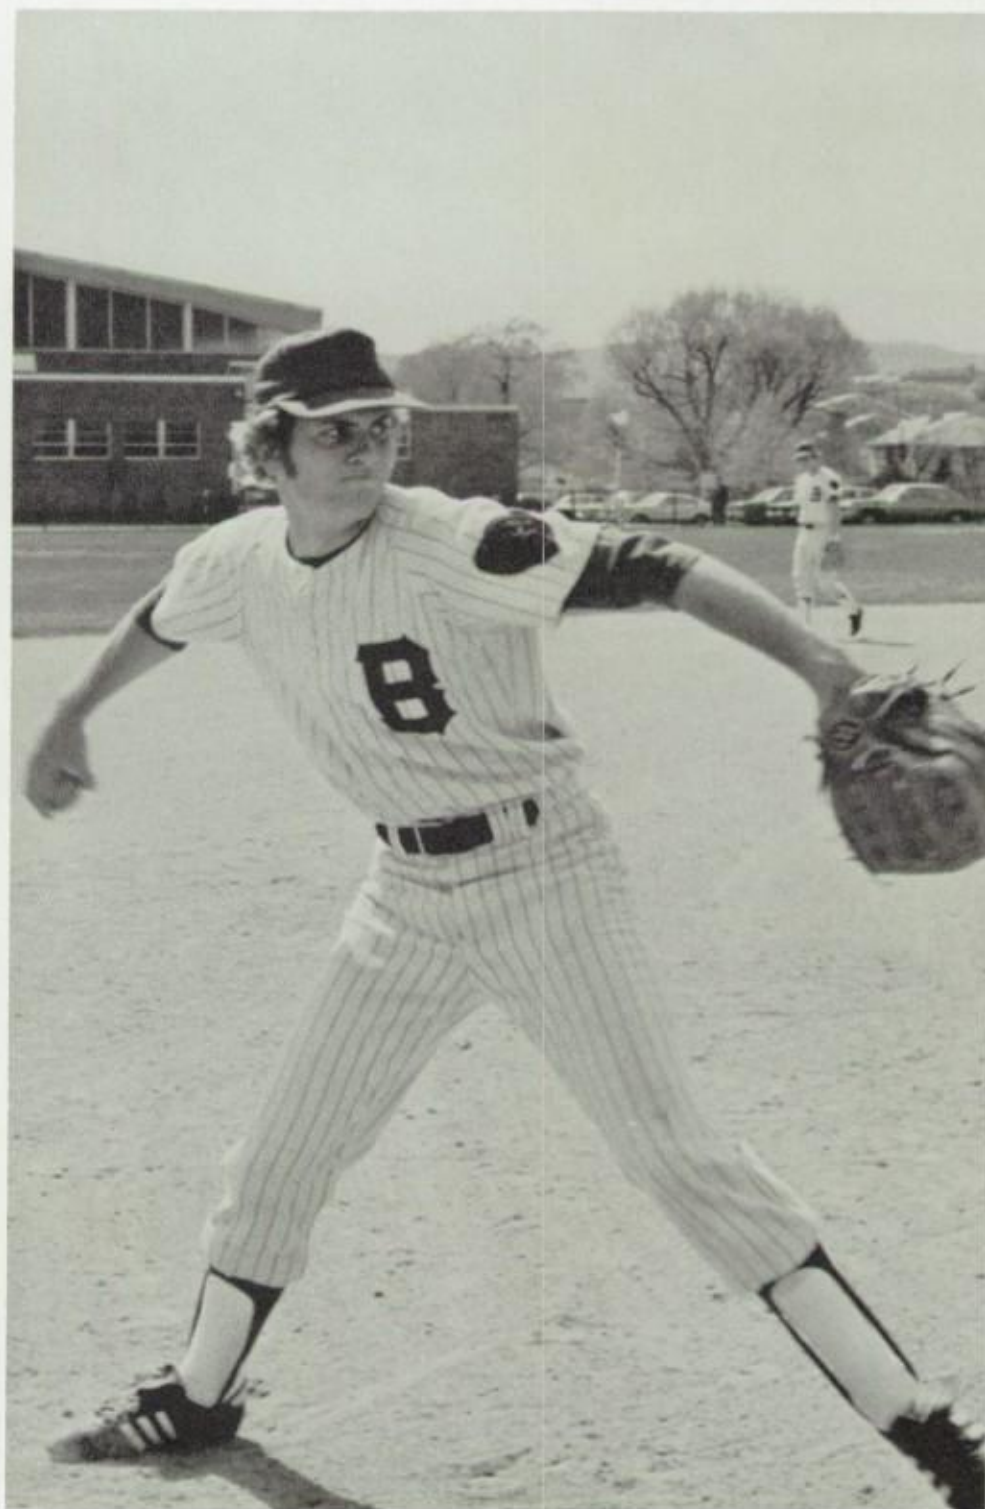

However, memories of the year also include locker-room frolics. We all fondly remember the infamous tag team battles, not to mention the sweating all of us went through to clobber a homerun, just to taste a luscious pizza. How about the time someone went lobby streaking? Yes, such memories as this create a heart warming tingle in all our hearts.

Upset scored

Lacrosse — the fastest sport on two feet. And you can't survive alone. Everything is timed to the split-second. Every pass, every check, every catch. If all goes well, your final achievement is a goal.

Our team worked long and hard for those goals, too. We had fun practicing and playing together. The only "major" complaints were the muddy playing field and the perpetually bruised condition of our bodies during the playing season.

Working with our coach, Mrs. Sherry Jessum, we finished with a 2-6 Chest-Mont record and a 4-6 overall slate. The highlight of the season was a 6-4 victory over West Chester. It was the first time we ever defeated them.

Through rain and sun and sleet and snow we diligently trekked the eighteen holes of Twin Ponds. Here we gained much experience and a little bit of skill, and only lost about 2,000 balls.

Captain Ted "Bing" Bingaman and junior Jeff Schoch led the Bogey Boys of Boyertown to improve their standing over the previous years and helped golf come to its own in BASH.

Under the direction of the team's new coach, Mr. Ronald Youngerman, the team's season highlight was a win over West Chester.

Golfers gain skill; improve record

Netmen persevere

We had tough competition this year in the Ches-Mont League. But we proved we had the winning spirit in us by improving our last year's record to 3-11. Under Coach Earl Guinther we played our hardest and always fought until that last point.

Captain Randy Keen, first singles, finished the season with the team's best record of 5-8. Doug Nester and Alan Erb followed at second and third singles respectively. Playing first doubles were Vic Plavcan and Newie Marable, while Russ Effrig and Randy Butt played second doubles. Next year looks even more promising with five lettermen returning to our young team.

Girls' tennis at BASH had a great season. For the first time since the team was started three years ago, we had a winning record. We ended in third place by losing 3-2 games to Pottsgrove and Great Valley. The highlight of the year was a 6:30 a.m. practice for the Downingtown match. They were the defending Ches-Mont champs, but we pulled through and won by a score of 3-2. Coached by Miss Susan Levy, our overall record of 9-3 proved that we had what it takes to win.

Captain Rita Licht played first singles and Diane Rabold followed at second singles, each compiling identical records of 8-4. Playing third singles, Fabe Fedor finished the season at 10-2. The first doubles team of Candy Trace and Martha Andersen had an 11-1 season, while Lorraine Weidner and freshman Elka Nutt finished at 7-5.

Board reorganizes

The Board of School Directors, which now includes a woman for the first time in several years, spent much time this year finalizing plans for the new Junior High East which opened in January. This and other projects, including the nine million dollar budget, were also subject to board approval. An additional responsibility was taken on by the board this year because of the gas shortage. All school field trips had to be authorized by it. Because of the national return to Daylight Savings Time, the board also decided on a half-hour later opening of school during January and February.

This board is the policy-making and legislative body of the Boyertown Area School District. Its nine members are elected, three from each region: Region I — Bally and Bechtelsville boroughs, Washington, Earl, and Colebrookdale townships; Region II — Douglass-Berks township and Boyertown borough; Region III — New Hanover, Upper Frederick, and Douglass-Montgomery townships. Annual reorganization takes place in December.

System continues

The administrators of the Boyertown Area School District worked behind the scene to make our school run smoothly and efficiently. Mr. Gilbert and Mr. Grimm led the team; they supervised the entire school district. Mr. Weller was manager of all financial business for the district.

At the senior high, Mr. Kuser served as principal to over 1600 students. The assistant principals took on specific areas of responsibility, with Mr. Davies in charge of scheduling and Mr. Flannery in charge of discipline. At times Mr. Davies' desk was completely covered with revised schedules, and Mr. Flannery never spent a day in the school without a trip to room 603. But through it all, they managed to keep the system from breaking down.

Struggle, work, accomplishment!

All year long the steady clicking of typewriters and the whirr of office machines accompanied me to the world of business and high finance in the 600's.

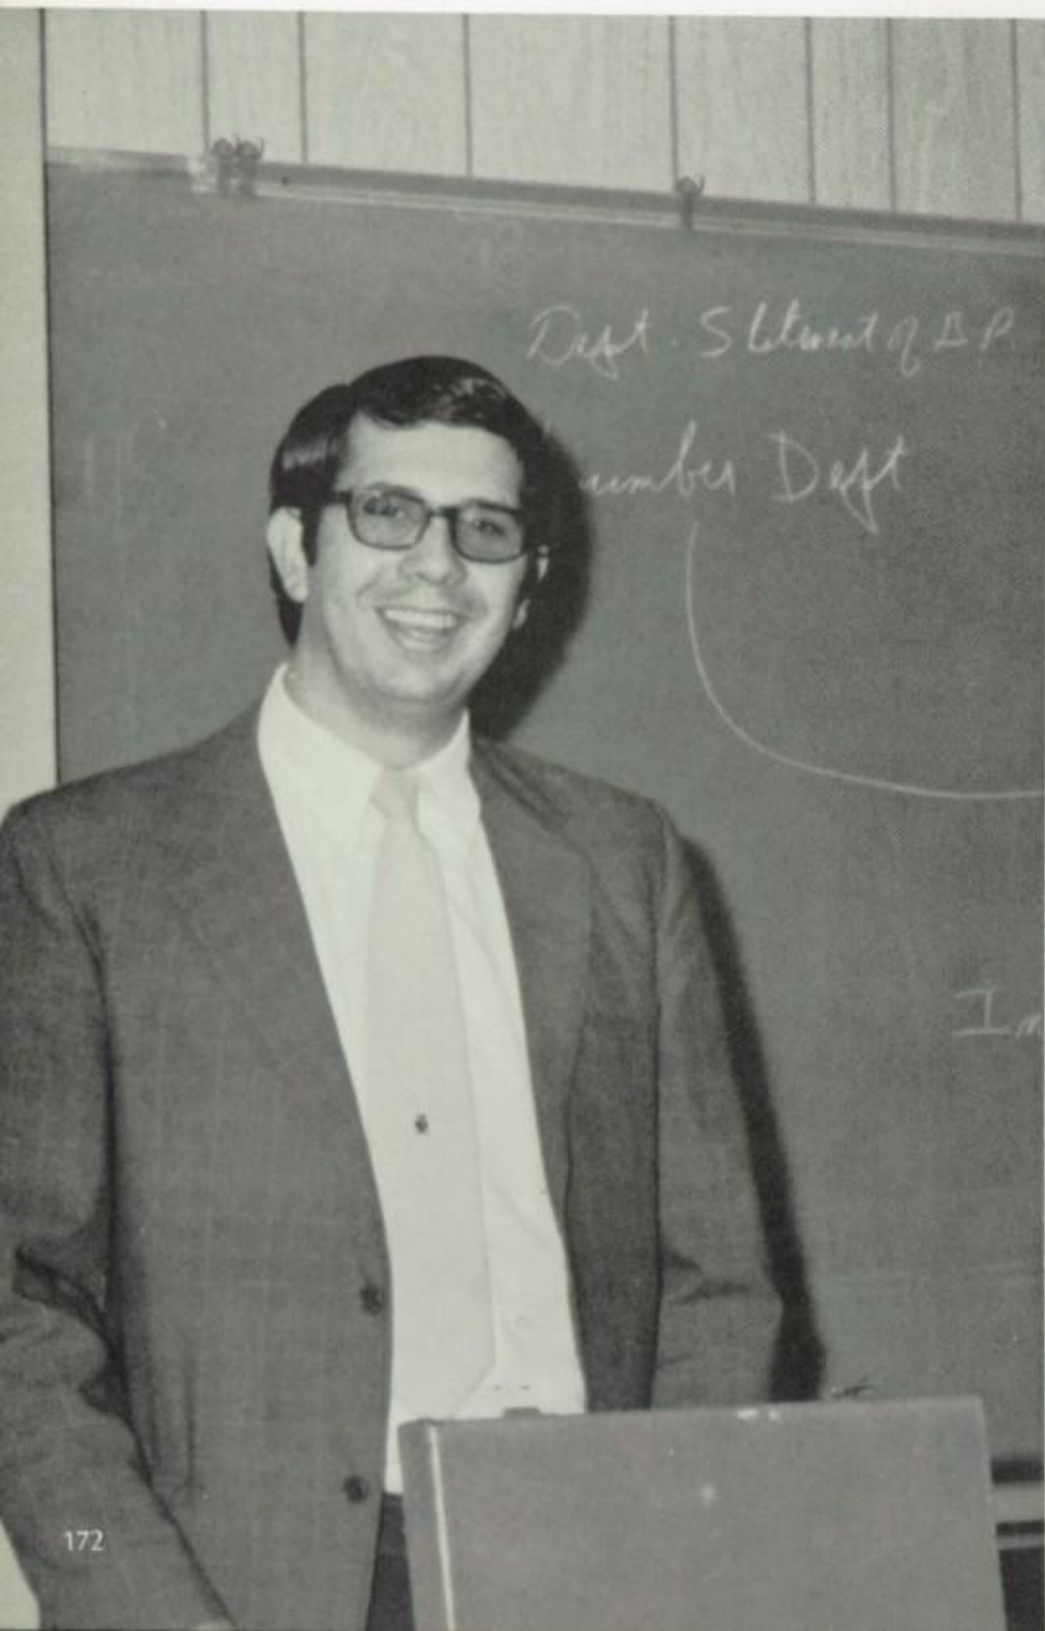

I developed a sort of pride in displaying my shorthand skills to the amazed academic students. I strove to become the world's fastest typist and most accurate bookkeeper. I endeavored to overcome the unknown — "Now where is the 'z'?" "Is Mrs. Gallagher looking or can I just peek at the keys?"

The struggle, the work, and finally the accomplishment . . . Perfect! "I wonder if Mrs. Young will pin it up in the back of the room!"

Double space . . . tabulate . . . indent . . . shift! I didn't know if my head would explode or my fingers would break or, Heaven forbid, I'd make a mistake.

Variety rules

One of the first classes to innovate the quarterly system was English. This enabled us to choose classes in which we found an interest. It also made English class a little more bearable.

Oral Communications always proved to be "different" if not exciting. For instance, one joker — bless his soul — devoured a snail . . . live, whole, shell and all. And of course there was the day some young man wheeled his motorcycle down the hall, past Mr. Kuser, to 906 for his demonstration speech.

When you thought about it, the knowledge we acquired in the literature courses was quite astonishing. Did you know that Wang Lung (of The Good Earth fame) was a male chauvinist pig? And who would have thought Edgar Allan Poe was a "head."

Expression

Finding my artistic ability was a big job for Mr. Larson, Mrs. Gerhart, and Miss Rohrbach. Even if my paintings and crafts never looked as neat as the other guy's, I still learned to "express" myself through them. In art appreciation class, Mr. Gerhart taught me to associate artists with their paintings.

In chorus, Mrs. Lamb made me at least feel like a professional singer. Mr. Saylor led the band, and Mr. Crummy directed our orchestra — and I listened, feeling a bit more fulfilled because of my experiences with the arts.

I doubt if Brezhnev would recognize "our" Russian, and I'd make a small wager that Pompidou never heard sounds as eloquent as those coming from our first year French classes. Yet we aimed for perfection. As freshmen we set out to master the foreign language of our choice. Onward through rolling R's and misconstrued genders, we crammed and conjugated, and eventually came up with acceptable accents and some degree of fluency. We were even able to handle book reports in German and pop music in French — and was there a Spanish student who couldn't sing "Happy Birthday" in that language?

Math a new world of numbers

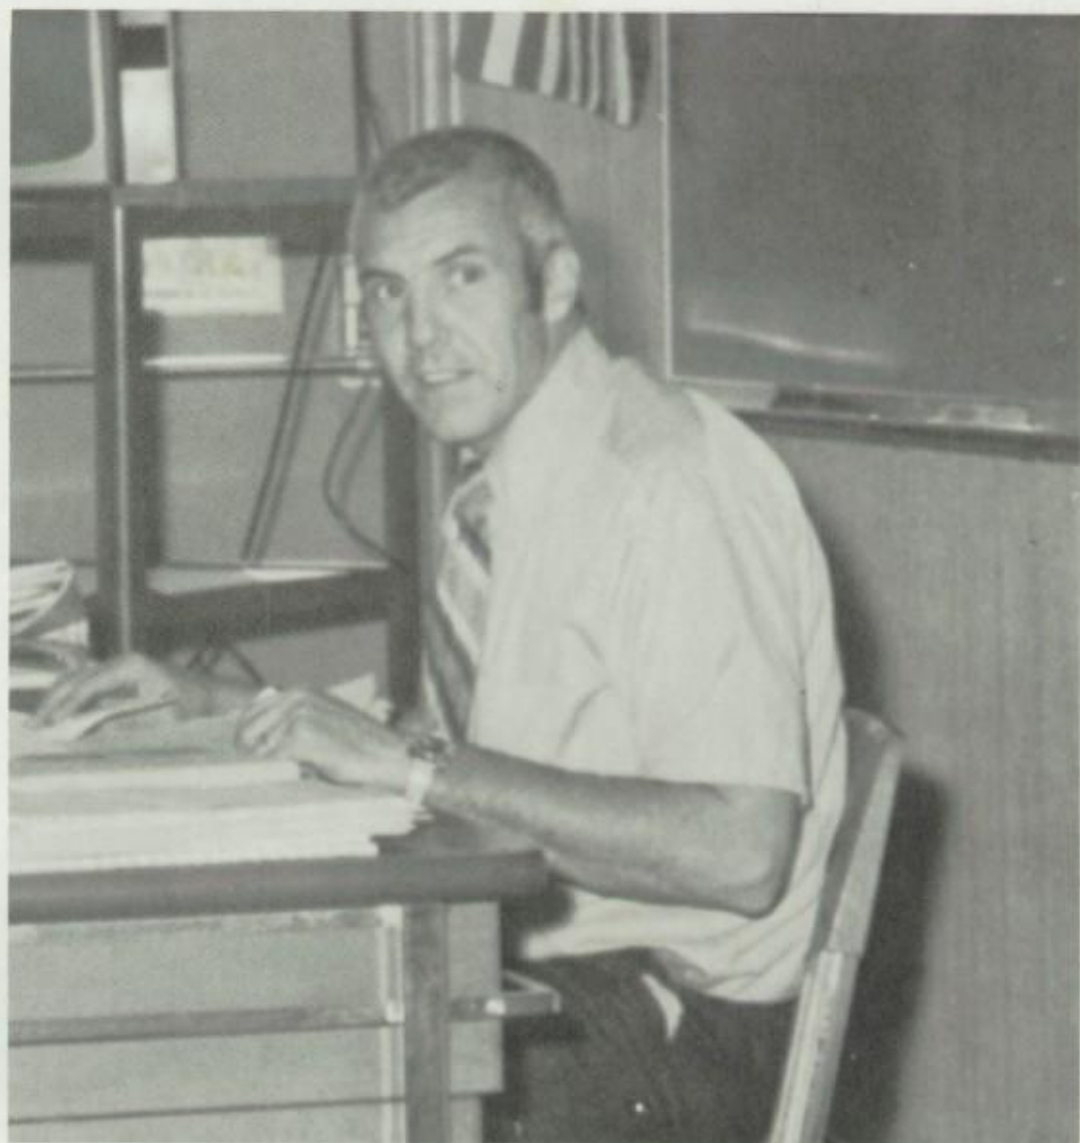

Square roots, tangents, polynomials, and logarithms swim through my head. With theorems and proofs and simultaneous solutions, I often wonder if $1 + 1$ does make 2. The language of math sometimes seemed as clear as pig latin to me, and at times, all seemed hopeless. But then, after covering one whole sheet, front and back, with my mathematical computations — ZAP! — the solution would pop into my head. And following weeks of complex calculations and impossible proofs would come the reward — Game Day!

Quarters allow selective study

This year our shop courses and their counterpart — home economics — allowed for a more selective study. With the quarterly changes I could pick and switch and come up with more specific and specialized classes than ever before.

In the shop wing I was taught such skills as carpentry, design, and mechanics. Drawing of my favorite building blocks was accompanied by Mr. Madeja's whistling of taxi tunes. In electronics I constructed a who-je-me-callit from a what-chamajiggy, but in Mr. Orlowski's woodshop all I managed to make was noise and sawdust.

Down the hall from the shops are the home economic suites. Here I learned the refined art of homemaking. Skills such as putting a zipper in backwards or removing a spoon from the garbage disposal were developed.

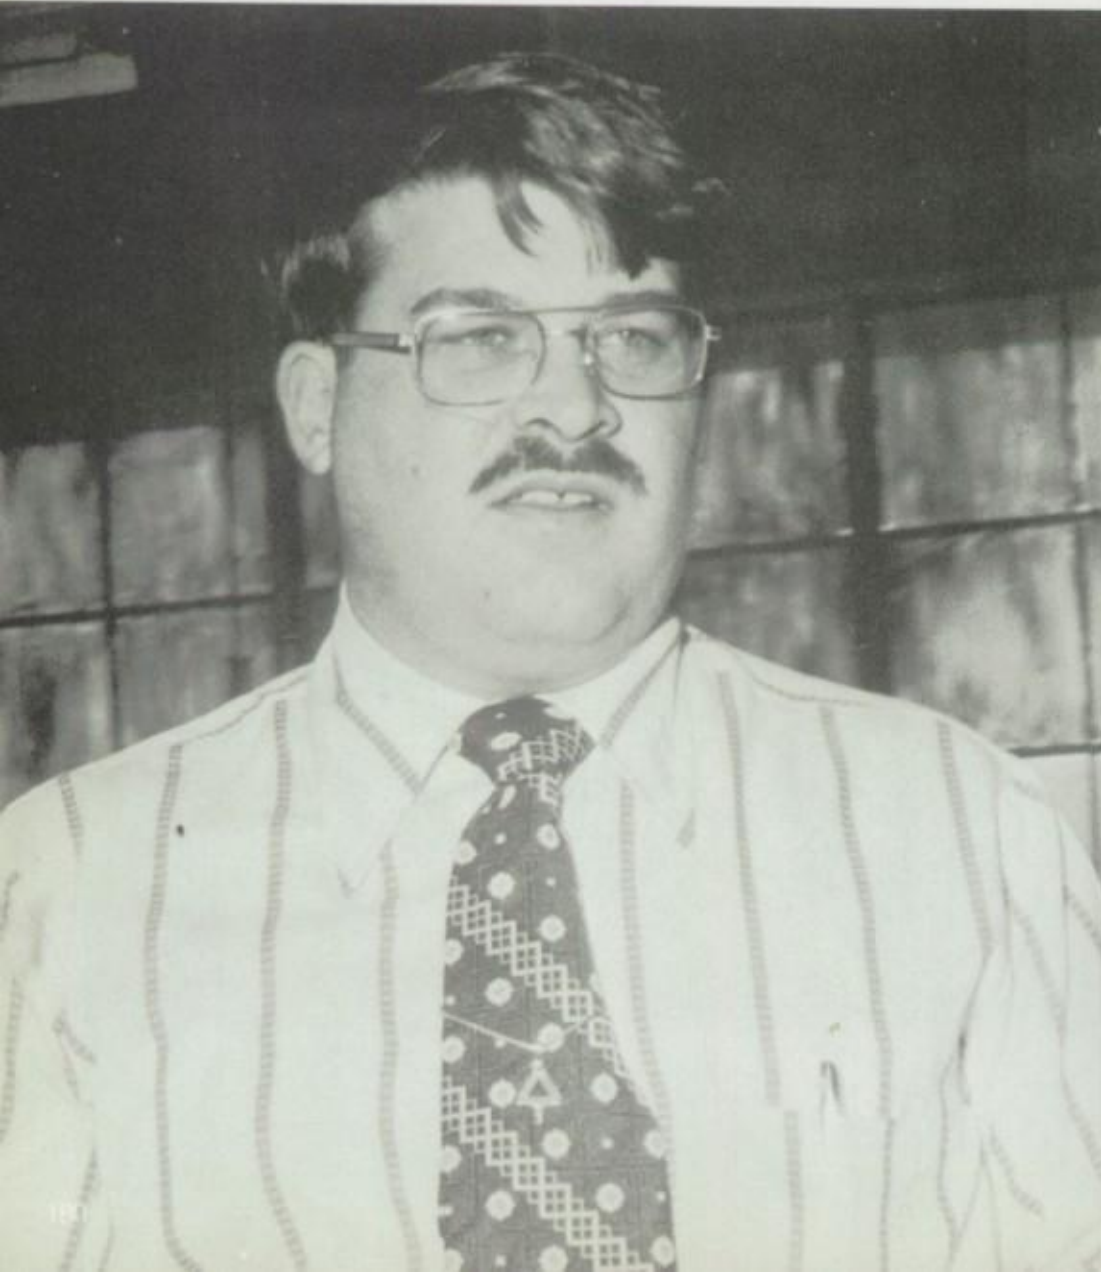

In both areas, I learned that the world outside of academia isn't always that easy. There was no simple juggling of figures or sanding down to cover up the flaw, and burning brownies by any other name still smells the same.

Gym goes coed

A new and different experience awaited all of us blooming Olympic stars this fall — coed gym class. Although the new quarter allowed us to choose the courses we wanted, it didn't compensate for the embarrassment of one young man who flew off the trampoline and into the arms of an unsuspecting female. The girls could have cried while lifting weights and doing sit ups alongside the boys. Yes, we have all suffered with matchless fortitude. We sweated through numerous basketball games, the incredible 600, flag football, and volleyball. We endured the horse, the broken toes, the parallel bars, the aching stomach muscles, the pulled ligaments, and the holey sweat socks. Very few of us are superstars, but we have tried; and coed, quarterly gym classes made it at least a bit easier to endure.

Unavoidable delights

Remember calculating foot pounds and force of impact, or “filling up” the Ford with Mr. Merkel? Yes, sweet memories of Safety Ed class and driving around the parking lot eighty times in one period will long linger in my head. After all the curbs I ran over, the stop signs I went through, and the trucks I barely missed, I finally got my license — even if I had to go to Reading three times.

We learned of our anatomy, of disease, and of capitals of the states in Mr. Roth’s room. The pictures and diagrams on the walls were set off by the notorious red, white, and blue curtains.

Health and Safety Ed were two unavoidable delights on everyone’s schedule. We managed to pull our weary bodies there at least once a week and fill our heads with knowledge of seat belts, brakes, and bones.

History — filmstrips, bad jokes

Through our high school years we have learned the ABC's of history, from Zinganthropis to Richard Milhouse Nixon. We have studied the first men on the North American continent and the first men on the moon. And we have only touched the surface of human experiences. Who said, "All history is bunk!"? But we've had our share of boredom, too. Remember those filmstrips that no one watched, and those lectures no one ever heard? We learned the four R's for Mr. Updegrove and endured Mr. Rambo's sick jokes. Yes, from World Cultures I to POD and comparative government, we have learned of our nation, of our world, and a bit of ourselves.

World of reasoning keeps future scientists working

We collected bugs, dissected frogs, and spilled methyl alcohol all over the floor. This was science class — biology, chemistry, physics — the world of reason. We learned of CuSO_4 , chlorophyll, and . . . cross country? Those "humongous" formulas and insurmountable problems at the end of the chapters are things we gladly leave for next year's scientists to tackle.

With the knowledge and experience we acquired we sometimes knew what was going on. Yes, every once in a while, during those confusing and complicated experiments, somewhere between a series of results, a few equations, and a lot of guessing, a light would shine. In those rare moments of understanding, the pieces would fall into place and we knew our efforts were not in vain . . . But that was only sometimes.

Guidance kept busy

BASH reverberated this year with changes in curriculum and scheduling. We, however, only saw the "mistakes" of modern science's wonder machine, the scheduling computer, as incredible lines filed out of the guidance office, wound around the 200's hall, and congested traffic. Computer difficulties, the increased number of quarterly courses, and the too-many-students-for-the-building problem caused major complications and resulted in more errors than solutions. Finally, around the end of the first quarter, everyone was happily situated in the correct rooms, and guidance had the job of getting it and keeping it that way.

On top of the tremendous task of scheduling, these counselors managed to find jobs for co-op students, fill out college applications, encourage students to further their education, and proctor academic tests such as the PSAT/NMSQT and SAT tests.

Where would we be without them? Probably wandering the halls searching for rooms that don't exist or wondering why I was the only male taking gym in 801 G.

Service to students

The librarians, school nurse, and special education department provide unique services to the school. Working with the difficulty of a divided library, Mrs. McLaughlin and Mrs. Bielecki still managed to make students feel welcome and unafraid to ask for help. And those peppermints in the research area didn't harm librarian-student relations either!

Mrs. Strzelecki's health suite was always open to students, and we managed to take advantage of the hospitality as often as possible.

In the special education area, teachers and students aimed for a practical approach to life.

Experience provided

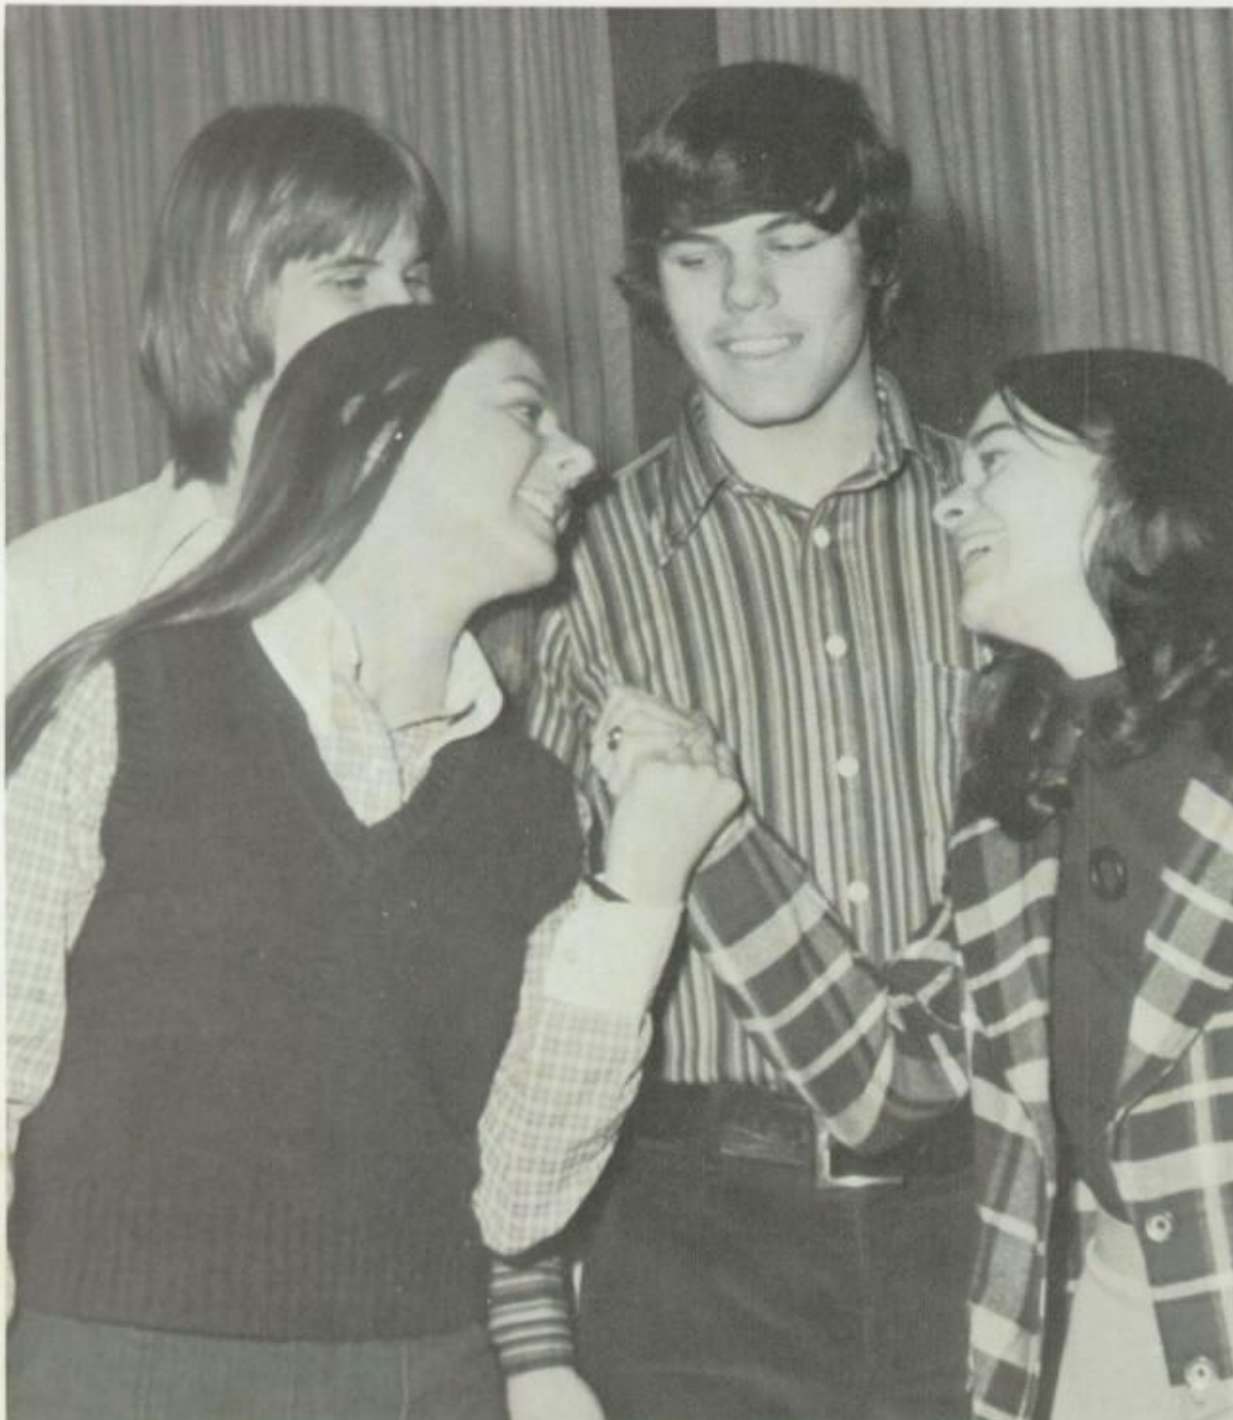

A grimy auto mechanic working under a car, a chemist hovering over his experiment, a beautician setting a mannequin's hair, and a computer programmer solving a problem are usual sights at the vocational-technical schools. Nearly thirty courses, taught by highly skilled industrial teachers, are offered to the students of twenty school districts. Experience is stressed in all courses. Students hope to use this experience to obtain skilled jobs after graduation. According to the students' interests and abilities, courses offered range from the practical skills such as masonry and carpentry to the highly technical skills of metallurgy and industrial chemistry.
